The Exaltation Of God

Dear Friends,

As I began to think about the introduction to these pages, I quickly realized how far short I fall. Without God's exaltation, nothing I say or write would have even an inkling of real meaning. Certainly, I might find a few who glean something from the words, but the lasting effect of Wisdom would be missing. With that in mind, I did for this introduction exactly what I did at the beginning of each day for the devotions. I began by praising God.

Over the course of the last year, I have learned that my many decades of Christianity have been external and like the paint on a car. Although stuck to me and offering some level of protection, it did not affect how smoothly I ran. During the last year, though, as I have started my morning with praise to God, listened for and recorded His messages to me and ended my day with yet more praise, I have been transformed. Instead of having a colorful exterior, I have been infused with God's Light and shine from the inside out.

There is no doubt that those who know me well will be able to look at my daily walk and see my short comings. Some may even be disappointed that I am not further along. What remains true, though, is that I am changed. I have no doubt that the same people who are able to see my short comings would also have to admit that in the last year, I have greatly grown.

I cannot convince you that what you are about to read is God's handiwork but whether you see these devotions as one woman's interpretation of messages from God or as I do, God's Messages to one woman, I pray your life is touched and made better for having perused these pages. If you are blessed by these messages, I encourage you to share them. Burn copies and pass them out at work and at church. E-mail the digital files to your friends and acquaintances. Buy extra hard copies for your computer-less friends. This devotional makes a great gift that need not cost you a dime to give and I pray that it will be a blessing to you and to all with whom you share it.

Eternal Blessings!

Silver Tongue

I will never do anything to embarrass you. If I ask you to do something and you are embarrassed, it is because you are letting pride get in the way.

Selfish ambition, pride, lusts and vainglorious strivings are all products of sin. Stop and listen for me and you build strength to withstand as sin and evil are presented to you. I will always provide a way out.

It is on the trail of silver tongued devils that my people fail. Not so with me.

JAN 2

Joy-Maker

Joy is the byproduct of time spent with me. If you are not joyful, make the decision to get joyful. Take off the sack cloth. Remove the funeral attire. Behold today all things have become new. Now you have reason to Joy. Make a joyful noise before me, your King. Make a joyful noise.

Just Breathe

My voice comes in ways you've not expected. Don't be too quick to think you've heard me or from me. I speak to waiting hearts. You've been seeking me and I am found. This requires you to trust me wholly -- completely. Just trust. Just breathe and trust. Just trust and breathe.

Beauty

Apologize not for what is outside. People will see what they can see. Some will see me. Some can only see as the world sees. Social media will help determine the collective vision. Be watchful and look for me in everything everywhere. When you are looking for me, you will find me and that is beautiful.

Home Canned

You can find a person's best by looking for what they keep for themselves. Often that is the choicest fruits. Like canning, what vegetables a person saves for his own cupboard are the most ripe and fresh. What things are stored in your life that should belong to me?

I commanded you not to store up things for yourselves. If there is anything you have "socked away," ask yourself if it is something upon which you depend. Do you feel you need it to survive? Are you keeping it just in case you might need it to survive? If you answer yes, it is time for it to go. I clothe the lilies of the valley and feed the birds. How much more will I clothe and feed you?

Depend on me. I am faithful. I am the Rock. I am the Cornerstone. I am not the Cupboardstone. Think about it.

The Line in the Sand

Don't you know that you and I are one? You and I are one just as my Father and I are one. Being one with me means the line in the sand is clear -- just not clearly where you thought it was. I am at work in you and I am at work with your brothers and sisters. Each person has a moveable line. The further toward the ocean of love, goodness and light we get, the more I must move the line to just behind us. All that is back is done. You are not in the same place in your walk as the next person. The paths may not even be the same, but that doesn't mean a single line is wrong. Each has its appointed time. Be at peace with that.

Picture This

Picture yourself as a playful puppy with his master. Your great joy is an on going game of fetch. With boundless energy, you run over and over to retrieve the stick I throw for you. This is exactly the scenario I ask you to mimic on Earth. I will throw out the task and you are to run tirelessly to pick up your cross each day and bring it back to me. Only in this way do we bond and you learn to trust me. I never throw stones that could harm you -- only a small part of my Tree. I said to come as a little child. Now I say come as an energetic yet faithful pup.

Sit in the Dark

You can sit in the dark or flip one tiny switch and have light. I'm not talking about electricity, but instead your viewpoint and my influence. I am your Lamp. If you let me, I guide your way, but you have to be willing to listen. You have to be willing to give up darkness altogether. It is a choice. Remember I talked about putting a lamp under the basket? Apply that here. If you turn back to old thoughts and old ways, you're putting my light away under the basket and making it ill effective. Flip the switch in your mind. Choose Light.

Wake Up

There is a time to sleep but it is not now. Be vigilant and pray so that you will be able to withstand the devil. Feel my strength? This is the time to sit before me and soak it in. You need it. Let my voice confirm all I say.

JAN 10

The Waters

Chicks don't question. They don't peck at one another, nor do they squawk at passersby. They are expectant and beautiful. Whether it is morning or nightfall, little chicks appear to the world the same way, sweet and beautiful.

Rosebuds don't get the glory of their grown counterpart. They are admired by the gardener while the florist prefers the mature bloom. Still, the rosebuds have their place and their use.

The waters come for both chick and rosebud. Whether new and beautiful or young and growing, there is no distinction between the two. Both need the waters equally.

You are like the waters. It is not your job to determine where you will be used or for whom, but only to quench thirst as you are poured out. What comes as a result, I will decide.

The Exaltation Of God

JAN 11

He Waits

So often you fail to see the creativity I have placed in those around you. You get caught up thinking of them as worker bees when in reality, they long to be in touch with their Creator as much as you do.

You are fortunate because you have a Father who is patient and long suffering. He waits for you to realize He is there. Then He waits for you to see His Divinity all around you including in others. Finally He waits for you to return to Him.

I speak to you as your Brother who knows and has gone on before you. Hold fast to our Father's ways and He will not have waited in vain.

JAN 12

Just Think

What would the world be like if I'd never been there?

I am the compass and the map. I am the boat and the guide. I write out the stories that are your adventure and rescue you in the end. Without my influence all would be lost and without reason. Because I came, you are able to do good with what I give you. Sometimes I give a lot. Sometimes you need little.

Listening Heart

You can listen anywhere (all the time) and you should. It is time spent with me that gives you strength for life's most difficult battles and knowledge to handle those battles like a king waging war.

JAN 14

The Unseen Forces

There are a host of unseen forces at work on your behalf, for you and to you. The fiery arrows come and the forces stop them. So too do they work to provide you messages directly from me. Remember My Word that my angels are my messengers?

If only you knew how much was happening in your favor.

You never have a reason to fear. You could not, if you understood the network that surrounds you, worry about what is to be. Are you concerned about the connections within your computer that allow you to connect across the world? How much less you should worry about the connection within you that is eternal. It always was and always will be.

Rest in my safety. You are free.

JAN 15

The Trespasser

You become increasingly aware of where and when you step on other people's toes because you are drawing nearer me. Don't focus on when and where others step on yours. Forgive quickly and move on. Dwelling on unintended hurtfulness is the basis for wars. First you feel a slight then you want revenge. Finally you are fighting over territory that was never meant to be yours. Remember that all belongs to Me, even the hurts.

The Exaltation Of God

JAN 16

Differences

Sometimes a title is enough. It nearly tells the whole story in one word. Other times the story itself makes all the difference. Your time with me teaches you which to be with others. You learn when to be silent and when to speak; when to lead by examples and when to be the example. All change comes with time. Be content with that.

Be Fruitful and Multiply

The loaf of bread is pregnant with ingredients. Each part on its own is not tasty. Sometimes together they are not good. In my hands, though, the ingredients make up your daily sustenance. Perhaps one loaf is full of patience and another of grace. I give you each day just what you need for a time. Be thankful and watch it multiply and fill the earth.

JAN 18

The Temple

Immorality is like the dragon of old. It must be slayed. In my Kingdom are many walls. Each room has a view of all that is outside it. The enemies try to scale the walls but my guards stand at the ready. You are the guard to your room in my temple. I am the guard to the gate of the Kingdom. Only what I allow in can come in so you must only guard against that which I have allowed to reach you. I do not allow too many enemies at one time.

Through each window in each room, the light of my being shines. Those open windows are my design. They seem to be unprotected so that many an enemy and the multitude of foe can enter. In fact, they are left open so You can feel all the warmth I send you. Don't focus on the enemy so long that you forget to enjoy the warmth. It is all a very delicate balance set to work perfectly for your good and health because I love you!

The Power to Serve

Sometimes you are a part of the unseen forces. I guide you with my eye and you in turn help shape by the power of your thought. There is influence in your thought. Before now you have not seen this clearly. Now that you do see it the way I intended, use that knowledge wisely and influence for good. Be proud of those around you for the good they do and the good you know they can do. Then apply this same goodness to yourself.

Meeting the needs of others is the outward action of using your power of influence. What greater love is there than to feed one of these little ones or to bring a drink to a dying man? When you cannot physically meet the need, you remember the goodness of those who can so it will be.

The Undetermined Bible

To the untrained mind, the Bible can be misleading, boring and confusing. That is not the uneducated, but the unprepared. Faith comes by hearing and hearing by the Word of God. I must first whisper it into your heart then you must walk to it in order to hear what is really being written. It is being written even today. I'm not changing the Bible. I'm still talking to my people and in these last days, even more than ever before.

Are you ready to lead or be misled? The choice is yours.

The Exaltation Of God

JAN 21

Rest with Me

People fall asleep when they come to me because I give them rest. For once in their day, they put aside their worries, concerns, wants and needs and turn to me and I quiet their minds and give rest. Don't be so quick to think this is not a good thing. Instead look at that rest as yet one example of my love for you.

Your Guide

You want to help and to be helpful. I see that and acknowledge and appreciate it. Sometimes what is most helpful is a willing heart. You have need of me and a willing heart shows me you know and acknowledge that.

Knowing your fellow man (your brothers and sisters) is sometimes all it takes to be used by me. Other times he or she needs to be acknowledged for their good deeds. They make great efforts yet do not see the end result. It doesn't mean I haven't used them rather that they are like the seed used to grow the mighty oak. From tiny things come greatness. See it all around you and say so when you do.

You are guided continually by me. Be a guide as I guide you. That is my will and the desire of our Father. You are a light in the wilderness.

JAN 23

Sighs Of Love

Come to me to listen. I will give you peace and strength to carry out all I will ask of you.

Life, love and liberty are carried on my breath. Peace, justice and mercy are in my arms. Come to me to find it all.

There is no greater love. There is no greater peace. There is no greater place for you to be. These quiet times are the escape route. Join me and I will make straight the path.

Don't get caught up in the affairs of today and when you find that you are, run quickly to your closet and seek me. I may not say a thing, but you can rest assured I will be there waiting with a breath of life just for you.

Temptation Led

When a troop is led into battle, they do not know ahead of time what they are about to face. Some may face gunfire from afar while others meet the enemy face to face. Each soldier must be prepared. He must know his orders and not stray from them.

If a commander knew each soldier's weakness before the battle, would he not arrange his men in the strongest formation? Would he not keep his soldiers free from temptations that weaken the whole? I act likewise.

I lead you not into temptation.

The Exaltation Of God

Simple Joy

When it is impossible to find peace and quiet, enjoy the noise. It is better to be joyful in noise than miserable trying to spend time with me. That's it -- the simple message of today.

JAN 26

Excuses

Don't make excuses for poor behavior. Don't give yourself permission to turn away from me even for an instant. You have a problem. I have the answer. Don't you see how simple, how childlike it all is?

Come to me as little children and we will light the world.

JAN 27

Profound Wisdom

Let tomorrow bring itself. If it could, it would, but tomorrow cannot do anything. It isn't alive. It doesn't breath. It is merely a description of the movement that is to come -- MY movement. So when you begin to worry, remember what I've said. Let tomorrow bring itself and leave the rest with me.

JAN 28

Enjoy It and Smile

One of the most simple ways to come back to me is with joy. Make a joyful noise. Smile. Find pleasure in me within your heart. It may seem silly. You might feel stupid, but isn't it better to feel stupid and be used by me to your full capacity than to be brilliant and know me not?

This really is a choice. You must choose just for one moment at a time. It may take everything you have at first to tap into your joy, which is really me, but it will get easier. It will become second nature until you are living in my kingdom rest completely and all the time. Practice it. Enjoy it. Smile.

Meet Me Along the Way

Your praises and my messages will become more and more alike as you become more and more like me. Listen carefully to my words which are written upon your heart. You can't go wrong. You will be able to test the waters and direct the flow because you have joined me. I am in you. You need not worry about the censorship. I allow to be seen what should be seen. I allow to be understood what each one is ready to understand. Know that when "it" doesn't all add up to you, I am laying the groundwork of your understanding and making you into fertile soil. Then, when the time is right, I will cause a great and mighty harvest to flow like the waters into your life.

Your excitement over the idea meets me in the High Places and makes me well pleased. Yes, I am well pleased in you.

The Exaltation Of God

JAN 30

I Use You Well

It is unrealistic to think you will constantly live in the High places while you are in this body and on this earth. I am with you always but you are in human form and arrows continue to be shot at you. You will sometimes see them zoom past. I will continue to be your shield and you will notice less and less of the attacks against you, but you will know they are out there.

You have to stop censoring me. Let my words flow through you and let me worry about what is seen and heard. I am not disappointed in you or your worry. I understand it, but it is time for you to trust me and let me have my work without your interference. Your mind and will get in the way when they are not first joined to me.

Do you see how I long to be near you? I want to sit with you and keep you close to my heart to comfort you. You will go into the world for a time to do my work then come back to me when it is time. Continue coming back to me so I can give you rest. I long to give you rest and companionship. I long to be with you.

All of this does make a difference. You know it and I know you know it. Go ahead and enjoy it. It's okay to love being with me. I am good at loving.

JAN 31

I Am OK

I am OK. You are OK. We'll all be OK together. -Thomas A. Harris MD

What You do is just as important as what others have done before you. This understanding you have of the transparencies of time allows you to see your effectiveness in history, the present and the future all at the same time. It also explains the lack of limitation on me and on you because of time. I am active yesterday, today and forever. Know that and understand I am the Great I AM and that's OK.

The Exaltation Of God

Priorities

You think you have to plan and put into order the elements of your life. Not true! If you would but focus fully on me, all the plans would seemingly work themselves out. Take a lesson from the story of the birds of the field and lilies of the valley. Think on it. Act on it with your belief. That doesn't mean go do, but don't just believe. It takes believing then not going and doing. Only then is this law of supply activated. I supply the birds their food and clothe the lilies of the valley. How much more will I feed and clothe you? Am I not a loving, generous God after all?

Brought to Me

'What a natural extension I become of You when first You call me home. In Your Presence I am free and safe. You never leave me to my own.

What joy is this that I now know. With You, my companion, at my side. And wonders too the opportunities when the doors and windows are flung wide.'

You belong to me... not like a slave owner and master, but like a creator and his art. You are my finest. That is not to say your worth is more than others but that each of my creations is the product of my finest efforts. You are a part of a whole, a collection of the finest. What value you have, you do not understand any more than the cup knows its importance in holding tea. Even if the cup is chipped and faded, without it, the tea would be useless. What few seem to know is the chipped and faded cup is more valuable than the rest because 'though its been through a lot, its existence shows proof of my love and adoration of it. Don't be afraid to be banged about on your journey. Just be glad I take you along as my finest work.

Another Part

You have not been able to see sometimes how I move. You've mistaken my message or vision for a silent threat. You've interpreted things incorrectly. The man who sees a movie in the theater after a life in the woods doesn't necessarily know the images are not real. You have lived in the woods a long time. It's a beautiful place. I made it, but it's not like living in the Kingdom with me. This you can do now, every day, before you die because you already died with Christ on the Cross. You may have to wait on your eyes to adjust before you move, but don't worry. You will be able to see. Clear vision in full light is an art and yet another part of my perfect and finest work because I love you.

Free Will

The person who wants a problem will find one somewhere. It doesn't matter if it exists or not. I can change that heart. Will you change yours toward that person? The moment you do, you open the door for the goodness and love that is in you to flow to that person and are in effect working as my servant for that person. It is in the multitudes that make up my church that change happens. You don't have power to change anyone -- not even yourself. You do have the right to choose if you will be used by me. Be used and affect the change.

The Exaltation Of God

Music I Hear

You are beginning to see how you fit into the scheme of things and today realized more about the significance of the role you play. Your voice becomes my voice and my voice becomes yours. As a little child, you needed to hear me differently than you do now. The way you hear me now is different from the way you will hear me in ten years. Isn't it beautiful to be friends?

What you may not have fully grasped just then was how the opposite is true as well and what a joy that is to me. You don't sound the same as when you were a child and in ten years you will sound even better. What a beautiful sound it will be as my words become ever increasingly on your tongue. It is music to my ears -- music to my ears.

Keeping Track

There is not just one way to follow me. In the morning you may remember my blessings and therefore cast out the enemy. In the afternoon, hard work may be the catalyst I use. Evening time may bring rest and time alone with me. All these are ways to follow me. Remember them. Keep a list. They are important to your work.

FEB 7

Adrenaline Rush

I say perfect love casts out all fear yet you've been afraid to completely trust me. You have faith day to day that I will sustain you. Now it is time for you to really trust me fully. I am on your tongue. I am in your heart. I am working through you and greater things I want to do as you trust me more. It is an exciting journey, isn't it?

FEB 8

Finding Favor

Who says that walking with me means everyone will love you? Not I. Yes, you will find favor with men, but that doesn't mean all men. Some will hate you like Pharaoh hated the slaves when the plagues came. Didn't I use them to be an example? You are my chosen people. Go out of your slave camp with singing because I've heard your prayer! You are free! You are free! You are free!

FEB 9

Practice! Practice! Practice!

That's what all this is about. You have the time. Now practice. Practice! Practice!

Practice makes perfect and that is your aim. Do you see how joyfully you can approach the practice to realize your goal? Instead of struggling to get it right, we're joining together to work out the wrinkles a little at a time. Practice then becomes a comfortable gathering between friends. So come on! Let's get going! It's time to practice! Practice! Practice!

The Exaltation Of God

Perfectly Perfect

The Kingdom of Heaven is within you and you are seated with me on the right. You are a new and risen being. Rejoice in that. It is worthy of rejoicing. This is no small thing that you have been chosen to join. Therefore, go out and be perfect even as we are perfect. Can you hear that in much the same way as I told you to practice? It's a joyful thing. Go out and joyfully be perfect. Go out and be perfectly unashamed. Go out and be perfectly bold. Go out and be perfectly faithful. Then come in and rest with me again.

FEB 11

Meet Me

'O Lord, I don't want to filter Your light.'

It is not your job to peel away the filter. There are layers and layers, but your job is to be obedient even to the most faint of my whispers. Obedience allows me to peel away layer by layer. You will hardly notice it until you look back and see how far you've come. Be then thankful because even in this, I have not taken more than you can bear. Likewise, I do not give more than you are ready to handle.

These truths seem simple, even uninspired, but there is no time of meeting me that is not ordained and ultimately inspirational. Just come and meet me wherever you are. Joy. Joy. Joy.

FEB 12

Life Details

Living without fear means not worrying about the little things. As you uncover secret concerns, turn each one over to me and trust me to care deeply about even the smallest details in your life.

Life grows within you. Perhaps not in the way you would imagine, but growing just the same. The larger that life becomes, the greater your understanding of me.

Be not concerned over any of the rest of the details. They all belong to me.

Silence

Shh. Silence comes just when you need it most. Silence to feel my presence. Silence from all that is outside us. You are whisked away from toils and turmoil and kept safe in the high tower I prepared for your safeguarding. I am the Cornerstone. I am the Livingstone. I am your Silent Friend.

FEB 14

Hello?

Remember the game Hello? You whisper into one person's ear. They whisper in the next and around the circle you go. What started out as one message ends up another altogether. Do you not see that is how it is in my Kingdom? I speak but by the time it's gone all around, it (the message) has significantly changed and you know what? We find it as funny as you do. What? This is surprising? It shouldn't be. I don't need human voices to accomplish my goals nor is a mixed message unusable. So listen. Listen with all you've got. Sometimes you are producing joy even in heaven and sometimes laughter.

The Exaltation Of God

Time and Temp

Run a marathon. Swim the sea. Walk. Pedal. Crawl. These are the physical ways to get through. One. Two. Three. Don't you think I also provide a spiritual way as effective? Would an explosion before every miracle make it any more a miracle? Miracles come in all size packages both great and small. Like sins, one doesn't weigh more or count more than another. One miraculous moment isn't harder for me to perform than the next. It's all about my movement -- my breath and neither is subject to laws you understand.

When you were little, you picked up the phone and dialed the time and temp. You didn't think about its journey to you. You just knew day or night it was always there. I'm a God like that. Smile. It's going to be a God day.

Time Flies

'Time flies when your having fun.' Eternity is like that. When you are living in my Kingdom, it seems like the days roll by in quick succession. You've heard it said one is never busier than when he waits on the Lord. Now you understand. When I call you to have patience, I give you things to do and you look up periodically only to realize time has flown by. Rejoice in that. You are one step closer to me.

Intensity

The fishermen in the small boat do not shy away from the whale nor does the shark concern itself over whether the meal will be large enough. The fishermen fish. The shark eats. The hunter hunts. The captain sails. The Savior saves.

The smoke billowed across the New York skyline as the second plane made its way into the path with the first. The makeshift pilots went about their jobs with great intensity and although most think of them as evil, I see they are tools. I use them to accomplish my goals just like the fisherman uses his poles and spears, the shark its teeth and so on. I am the Savior who knows how best to utilize the good and bad from all around.

Your job then is not to be concerned over what is used and how. Your job is to be ready for when I choose to use you. In that moment of choosing, all the intensity and fervor with which you've dedicated your life causes you to become the most useful tool.

FEB 18

Weakness

You do not know weakness as most. Through frailty, you have learned the power of my movement. When you are weak, I am strong. In weakness, you have nothing to fear. Rejoice in that, my child. Rejoice.

The Exaltation Of God

FEB 19

Balance

Balance is a hard fought battle. It is the order of my universe and I am ever on the watch to see it is all as it should be. This is my great pleasure. Light to dark. Goodness to evil.

You hear that and think I'm creating darkness or evil to keep things level. It is just the opposite, in fact. I create light, goodness, beauty and love so the elements contrary to my nature don't overwhelm you.

Darkness isn't a creation anymore than the living waters are. They have always been. Look at Genesis 1 to understand more fully. I am the Light, the first creation and I bring the balance to all.

FEB 20

Until the Trumpets Play

Reveille sounds and the troops march to their places. Each one has his station at the call. The flag rises then falls again turn by turn 'til it goes from the white gloved hands of a soldier to the tear stained cheek of a soldier's loved one.

Slowly, slowly down into the ground as the last of the trumpet notes play. This is good-bye to a body that houses a soul so the soul can be free to greet me.

Don't let death be a controlling factor in your life. Its hold is only as strong as you allow it to be. It can weigh you down and keep your spirit in a grave with your loved one or set you free to worship me anew for my master design. I planned this new. I planned this new so that you would be free and perfectly prepared for one day at a time.

So at the Reveille call, wake up. Wake up. Wake up. Your spirit has its duty to the last trumpet call.

FEB 21

Quick Work

The disciple's response to the need was sometimes slower than my own because they did not always understand. Moving on toward perfection means realizing more and more how I work and that I do work even now.

Doubt hinders my work. The more you realize what I can and will do through and for you, the quicker my response will seem to come.

It isn't that I am responding more to some than to others. I answer every cry. It is simply the unveiling of those answers is different to different followers. Your answer may be yes and amen. Your friend's answer may be yes and follow me. I always answer.

Work to rid yourself of doubt. Praise even more.

Welcomed

You are welcomed, but not because of perfection you would never attain without me. You are welcomed just as you are with all your faults and misconceptions. You are welcomed because I love you and paid for your place with my blood. It was a sacrifice of love because I do love you.

Stop doubting. Stop fear. You have been welcomed.

The Exaltation Of God

FEB 23

Quality Control

Do you think that Heaven has no quality control department? Of course we do not because everything that comes out of the mind of God is perfect before it has been thought. Remember the verse that your thoughts are not my thoughts? This is the perfect example of that. You cannot understand how I might choose an alternate design in order to fulfill my purposes.

You look at yourself and think you need the quality control department to keep your actions, thoughts and doings in perfect order. You don't need that. You have me and as long as you are listening to and for me, you are not straying far from the path. The most effective partner is sometimes the silent one.

My Companion, My Friend

Sometimes there is no lesson, only companionship. Imagine how little the twelve disciples would have wanted to travel with me if always I'd been trying to teach rather than much of the time simply loving them. It takes getting to know someone and allowing them to get to know you that true companionship happens. Today, I want you to know I am happy, yes, even overjoyed to be your friend.

Measuring Up

By whose standards do you measure yourself? Have I ever made you feel the way you feel when you examine the person you are? The next time you're tempted to see your imperfection, ask yourself these two questions. It's all a matter of perspective.

FEB 26

Blood Buy

Satan is the ultimate body language interpreter. He watches closely for every opportunity. Unable to create, he relies on the ability to carry messages. In this case, body language is as good as English, Spanish or even pictographs. He can't see your heart beat (unless it's particularly hard), but he doesn't miss the pupil dilation. How much more do I notice these things? I know how you will react before you do. I see you from angles you can't fathom -- even inside out.

Keeping this in mind, know that when you walk into a dangerous situation, I need not be called from some outside place. I am there. I hear the threat. I see it. I know it by name and have already conquered it. That means whatever approaches to overtake you, sees me and backs away, yea, even scatters at my scent. I bought your life so rest easy. You are protected on every side because I love, treasure and will not lose you. You are mine and I am yours.

Your Light is My Light

Your enemies will chase after you. The question is will you trust me? Recognizing danger is not the same as being afraid. I want you to see what the world offers so that you will best know how to pray for yourselves and those around you. I want you to be wise with Holy wisdom. This is different from the world's street wise view, but no less aware and a lot more freeing.

With my wisdom freely given you and flowing through you, you will walk where I lead not only unafraid but casting out fear. Devils will run scared from your shadows and angels will dance in your light.

Yours Too

You do not know the secrets of another man's heart. You can only see as much as he or I allow you to see. Tread lightly lest you stomp upon them and leave bruises or even crush a heart. Remember to ever see me at each man's core. This isn't easy to remember to do at first, but with practice it becomes second nature. Then and only then are you open to see man the way I do. My view point is well honed. Let yours be too.

The Exaltation Of God

MAR 1

Crave the Music

Your craving for lessons more and more is the result of answered knocking so keep knocking. The music that is created as you knock I answer and you desire more, rivals that of any you've ever heard. The angels sing out the melody and carry the notes on their wings. What wonderful messengers of rhythm they are. Keep asking. Crave the music of our souls. It is our unique song.

The Promotion

Several men have one boss and all are vying for promotions. When assigned a particularly big deal, each will do what is necessary to receive recognition. A wise boss will supply his workers the needed supplies and even the solution to the client's need. Then he will wait. The men will work until the job is complete then go in for reviews individually. The boss will ask of them who is responsible and one by one each man will detail why the success should be put on his own shoulders. The man who claims the success not for himself but recognizes instead the gifts of the boss is the man who gets the promotion.

Which man are you?

Greed Isolates

The greedy puppy gobbles his food but is the delight of his owner. The puppy recognizes good gifts and shows his gratitude with great affection. The adult dog that bites the hand that feeds it will soon be fed from a distance. Greed isolates the loved from the master.

Will you be the pup or the dog?

Secretive

You need not protect yourself with secrets nor with silence. They accomplish nothing. Be not ashamed of what you do -- anything you do. You are guided and that is enough for your peace if you will accept it with glad hearts.

You've heard it said not to present pearls before swine. How does that apply to you? You are the pearl. There is not one physical gift that is needful of secret security. Only your soul, or spirit if you prefer, is worthy of safe keeping. All else is gravy, as you're fond of saying.

Be the secret I announce on the mountain top. I will not keep you hidden.

Manna Litter

There are always little tidbits floating along ready to cause a build up and a clog. This debris is part of life after Adam. Fortunately for you, I am here and I am the manna from Heaven. At first glance, I may seem just a glimmer like dew. Closer inspection reveals I am like a flake from within the coriander seed or in this example, like the debris. Each morning I am new and what you did not gather before has melted away. In other words, do not worry about what seems to be littered across the ground in front of you. By morning it too will have melted away in my Light and nothing will clog your forward progress. You are a vessel and I continue to flow.

The Exaltation Of God

MAR 6

Holy Spirit

My comfort comes at no one's expense but my own. I laid down my life that the Holy Spirit could/would come after me. Seek that filling to its fullest measure. What wonders you will come to know.

MAR 7

Chapters

I am the author of each chapter in your life. I predetermine the plot and work out the details for a happy ending. Your ending could look tragic to the world. Likewise it might seem especially peaceful. The fact is, no matter how it looks to the world, what is actually happening in the unseen is a joyous celebration. The end becomes the next beginning and what a wondrous life it will be.

Trust my design. Enjoy each chapter. Even the chapters that seem difficult lead you back to me -- always come back to me. The end is coming.

MAR 8

Drunken Freedom

Listening to a drunk person ramble, you can see glimpses of the reasons I love that person. There will be little revelations of hurts or great repetitions of the generosity that lurks in the depths of his or her heart. This might explain in part why I enjoyed the company I did while on earth.

It is that kind of honesty I require of you and am asking you to strive toward. It's not easy when natural inhibitions are there. The problem you might face, though, is that most your inhibitions aren't natural. They are man-made.

Remember you are set apart -- my peculiar people. Live it. Enjoy it.

MAR 9

The Faint Blue Glow

You are walking on a path trying to stay on the straight and narrow. As you notice the path begin to widen, you have two choices -- hope it decreases in size or help it to.

Get out your shovel and use it as a walking stick. When the dirt loosens at the sidelines, pat it down. When the path seems to become a bit jagged, add dirt to make it straight. Take note of the little changes. They are easier to fix.

Do this and soon you will begin to see the faint blue glow that surrounds you only on the narrow way. My glow is always there but in only one place can you see it this way. Enjoy it. Rejoice in it. Call me by name.

The Exaltation Of God

MAR 10

Resentful

Countless numbers of people have had worries similar to your own -- a spouse with a different view, the seemingly unanswered prayer, the time of wait. You can be like many and grow resentful of the time in the fire or you can use it to work on your tan. The choice is yours. Choose wisely. Choose carefully. Choose thoughtfully.

Frustration and resentment are opposite sides of the same coin. Both lead away from me. They are not faithful nor good upon which you are to keep your thoughts.

Stay joyful always and watch as I move you -- yea even push you along.

MAR 11

Safe with Me

You have to be prepared to walk with me in the midst of fear. When all is dark and you want to hide yourself away, tucked safely within your covers, turn instead to me and I will walk you safely through all peril. There is no dark place you can go that I have not already been and I know the way. You are truly safe with me.

When you forget that I am there beside you, forget even that I exist, seek the love you know because I reside in love. Where your love is, there I am. You are safe with me, truly.

MAR 12

The Valley of the Shadow

When you feel your load is too heavy, look at what is actually happening. I carry the load whether you ask me to or not. I do it because I love you.

You've heard it said that when you feel the load is too heavy it is because you are taking it from me. You cannot. You cannot even reach it from where you are.

Instead, you see me with the load and you grasp at it only to touch its shadow. Think about it. You wear yourself to exhaustion trying to grasp a shadow. Really think about it.

You don't want the shadow. You want the Son that casts it. Now trust I am here; right inside you.

The Exaltation Of God

Your Work

Your work is never done. You are going on to perfection but even then your work is not done.

Your Life

Your life is not your own. Before you even acknowledge me and before accepting my presence within you, I was the purchaser.

I have waited patiently for you to realize where you are. It has been like you woke to find yourself sitting in a completely blackened room. Rather than make a move, you sat listening and afraid. Eventually you stumbled around looking for the light switch yet despite great effort could find none. Finally you cried out hoping someone... anyone would hear and rush to help you.

What you didn't understand was that I was already there. I'd been there all along. When you called, I knew you were ready and I turned on the Light.

Your room is dark no more.

MAR 14

Talk to Me

Talk to me in your words, but know mine so that you can talk to yourself. You need to hear them. They are words of healing, hope and wonder.

Look. You need to understand the process. I'm not here to lecture, but instruct. I'm not here to command, but to teach. You choose what way you will go but as you spend more and more time with me, you will find this the easier way because it is the way of love and love really does conquer all. You are right to have said that in the end good always wins. I came that the ways of this world can pass away and when it does, you will be safe.

Don't worry about end times. That is borrowing from tomorrow and the price to repay is always high when you borrow. Make and sell for today and today only.

MAR 15

You Lead

You wield the power to move mountains and hold the source ever within your soul. I am a part of every part of you. You exist because I am with you and I move when you do. Where do you wish to take me today? What will we experience on the way?

This is not a condemnation in question form. It is that of an eager child awaiting the exciting agenda of a vacation day. What do you have in store for us today?

You see how I lead, but can you see how I wait and watch for where you will?

MAR 16

Forgotten Form

You can steal away with me a minute here and a minute there. You can find with me the peace that passes understanding. In me, you will gain balance. With me, in these still quiet moments, I restore to you the forgotten form. Isn't that grand?

The Exaltation Of God

MAR 17

Simple Enough

The day's tasks are not so important that they need interrupt this time -- our time together. They are like the joints on the handle of a cup. Without the joints where the handle is attached to the cup, the cup would become a small glass. It would still be useable for your drink but it would be different.

In this way the tasks you have awaiting you should be done, but none can change the fact that regardless of them, I will and can still us you.

Simple.

MAR 18

Where Peace Lives

Learning to listen in the midst of much noise is how you will learn to hear me when life is throwing its garbage at you. It is also the way to gain the poise you so longingly crave.

Come to me each evening for this very purpose. Learn quiet from the inside out. It is the only kind that will last and is what spreads beauty across your face like a youth serum promises.

Meet the storm at its center and watch it run from you. It will because it recognizes me in you. Silence will follow and peace will be there to overflowing.

MAR 19

Bathroom Conversation

I will talk to you anywhere and everywhere. I am never too busy nor too far to sit and talk. You call on me and invite me in as much as you want and then some and I will immediately reply.

When you give my voice to your thoughts, I comply. That is, I allow it until you understand and hear me more clearly. When you give my words to your voice, it is like the echo in the bathroom. Suddenly, it sounds so good.

Let the conversation be continual. Remember, it is everything by prayer and supplication let your requests be known unto God. Well, I am God so set aside some time and let's talk.

MAR 20

The Antenna

My signal is never weak. The weather cannot interrupt it. When I speak to you, it is with foresight. I know what you are ready to hear. Those things you are not prepared for, I withhold until the time is right. So many interpret that as my faulty signal or indifference.

You are my antenna and I made you perfect for the job. Do you not see that first you pick up me then you help transmit me to the world? See how well it works?

The Exaltation Of God

MAR 21

Your Next Step

It is okay not to know the next step. Know simply it is in front of you. I will never ask you to go backwards.

There are great adventures ahead. Whether you stay in one place or move around, you will meet adventure at every turn. I am the God of miracles and where miracles are, there is adventure.

Grasp onto the realization that miracle working power is the same to me as being. See the miracles in the mundane -- the every day. From there I will show you the greatest miracles of all.

From the beginning of time until now until the end of time, I am the same. What was, is and will be. Learn what was. See what is. Then and only then will you fully know what will be.

Your next step is right in front of you.

The Willing and The Rest

You are learning poise and patience that will come in very handy for you as you face many people from different walks of life. It is building in you the ability to see that although the background may be different the common ground is the walk in life. It isn't easy for anyone. Even the one that seems to sail through getting yeses and open doors at every turn has burdens he or she is carrying inside. No person escapes life without insecurity, doubt and fear. Don't let that be your focus, though. Realize the truth of it with each person you meet then be an open vessel through which I can flow to each one's need. You be willing. I will be the rest.

MAR 23

I am I AM

Imagine what it is you wish to hear from me. When you are burdened, do you hope for a saving miracle? When you are in physical pain, do you wish for a great physician? When you have fallen short, do you wish for forgiveness. Remember then that I AM.

There is no amount of rescue I leave incomplete. When one cries out to me, I am already there. When you ask for my help, I do not deny it, ever. I AM even when you do not ask.

Think of what you might hear me say. At all times consider what I wish you to know. Then know that in each moment, I AM.

MAR 24

Seashell

Inside each shell is a gift of my creation. Some have birds, some the sound of the sea. Some have precious mother of pearl. Inside you is a treasure much greater than all those. You have my breath and my substance. You have my artful design and you have my precious son. I have infused Him into your very being. You are not without His presence. Because of this, you get to lay claim to all. Be not afraid to own the beauty, the healing and the power. It's your birthright as my child.

The Exaltation Of God

The Moving Company

What good things come to you are not contingent upon your perfection. They rely on My perfection. The moment you grasp this is the moment all things become possible to you.

The arrows will come. They will present images to distract you, confuse you and keep you from good focus. They will not keep you from me.

Your job is to turn your eyes upon Jesus. By prayer and focus on my Son do you gain faith to overcome. The faith isn't in your own power. It is mine to work in your life.

You trust me. I know this by all I see in your life and in your heart. Now trust I know how to move the obstacles in your mind as well as those in your life.

Turning your eyes upon Jesus is turning the keys over to him so He may come in as a mover and a garbage man. First, he sorts out the good then he gets rid of what is useless.

Turn your eyes on the Way.

The Last Days

These are the last days. The time is short. It's not the end of the world I'm talking about, but the end of your old life. Each day you draw nearer. Each moment you put your faith in me is one step nearer the last of your old man-being. You are going on to the eternal -- going on to perfection. Be not afraid of the changes. Elijah going into the wilderness didn't know what he would eat, but he knew it would be from me. I fed him well. I fed him the pure healthy food of my making. Those were last days for him as well.

Welcome them. There's more adventure ahead.

MAR 27

Liquid Love

Comfort is my name. It is what I bring you and who I am. Strength is my counterpart and Savior is our physical form. You will walk into and become each one. You are joined to us. Where we begin and you end cannot be detected. Jesus used the example of the vine and its many branches. I say we are like the water droplets in the ocean. Can you tell one from another? No. We are liquid love -- living waters -- life alive and moving as one. We are the waves and the rain. Sometimes you can see the individual, but it doesn't stay single for long. Grab hold of this reality. It is yours and mine together.

MAR 28

My Heart

You know my heart. I desire to bless you and will do so for as long and as much as you trust me to bless. Believe a little or a lot. The choice is yours, but I suggest a lot. I've set forth the pathways and have kept the balance so that goodness and mercy and blessing and freedom from want are at your fingertips.

Believe. Believe. Believe.

The Exaltation Of God

MAR 29

My Voice - Your Head

It is my voice you hear inside your head. I like to speak to you in the morning because your mind is less cluttered then with the day's events. The closer you draw, the more like fresh morning your mind becomes all day.

Strive to push out the noise and hear only me.

Hear me in the noises around you. In the siren, I am riding to someone's side. In the thunder, my voice is echoing across the skies. In the snore, I am breathing for one who needs more air. Hear me all around you to hear my voice inside you more.

I am moving and speaking and being from the inside out. My voice is in your head.

MAR 30

My Sacrifice

I sacrificed my Son, his long life, the peace in which he might have lived and finally the time we were together. This was for you so that I never had to leave you unattended.

You've seen the cross illustrated like a bridge. Envision it too as a ladder Jesus built for you.

I love you dearly from on high.

MAR 31

Open Window Blessing

Sometimes you learn in pieces and it is okay not to share those things. When you understand more fully the natural extension will be to share. It will pour out without you realizing it. That is the moment I have opened the windows of heaven and am pouring blessing into you so that you cannot even contain it. People often see that as things of a physical nature and while I do bless with physical gifts, this natural extension of myself through you is the greatest gift of all.

Continue to block all that tries to come between us. Do not let even one moment of disbelief have its way. Disbelief and its following consequences are not for you. It can't separate me from you, but keeps my flow diverted. This is a great and sorrowful loss.

Be the recipient of my open window blessings every single day.

The Exaltation Of God

APR 1

It's Time

It's time for peace and freedom. It's time for more directed responsibility -- not to people or places, but solely to me.

I have great things in store. No moment goes by without me. No breath is taken that I have not measured and given.

Rest when it is time to say good-bye. There is time for reunions that will come later and all, all, every bit is in my hands.

Just trust me through everything. Trust me through this day, this month and this year. Trust me through this very moment. Then know you reach heaven by stepping not on stones but on moments -- one at a time.

APR 2

My Victory

The jagged end of a drill bit is not gentle with the wood. It bores out the opening so quickly we do not see it tear away the wood flesh. It is a sharp and effective tool and it opens up one side to the other.

I am the drill bit. My body ripped and whittled stood between you and our Father. When I allowed it used as the carpenter uses the wood, greater creation came and the hole that was made opened up the pathway to God.

That is Victory!

APR 3

The Silent Blessings

Keep having faith even when it seems I am silent or at a distance. Silence is the surest sign that I know I can trust you. When I am silent, I am showing you I know you will continue to strive toward me in all circumstances. It is a time of testing. I need to know when you are ready to move into deeper waters. Fear is an underwater dam. It doesn't stop all the flow, but it certainly slows it down. Keep your faith. Trust me and watch what flood gates I open to pour even more blessing over you.

Beating Lies with Praise

Why should you feel guilty about a system I put into place? I want your praise because I know how it benefits you. I made it this way. I designed the praise to benefit you and for you to desire it knowing it would open your eyes to my blessings. Why then do you feel guilty that sometimes your motivations are selfish? Do you not see that I knew it would be this way and I love you anyway?

If my people could begin, even dimly, to see how much mercy I have, a multitude of lies they believe would be stopped in their tracks. You may not be able to fully understand my mercy, but you can definitely help spread the word about it all the while benefiting personally.

Beating yourself up is useless and was never part of my design. Live happily and with praise in each moment.

The Exaltation Of God

APR 5

The Tip of the Pen

From the tip of the pen come many worlds. Man can create this way and a land can be all dark or all light and may be something in between the two. The man who listens to me and uses the tip of the pen to record what he hears from my mouth alone, is the man who creates the most.

APR 6

The Vibration

Light is a product of vibration. The frequency of the vibration helps determine the images you see. The 'tighter' the movement, the more solid the item seems. You can't change your own vibration by the choice of your will. You can allow me to change what you can see.

My word is vibrating and alive. It is the most tangible of all that is and also the most ethereal. I will reveal more and more so that it is all within your reach. Just keep coming to it faithfully and with expectation.

Soon the vibration with which you move will roll in waves of liquid love. Like the tide, it will come in and go out with the greatest of timing.

I control the vibration of the world.

APR 7

Pancakes

There is wood on the living room floor. The planks have been planed and sanded to fit one next to the other without gaps. Yet, as you know, gaps exist. The floor is old and was not treated gently.

In the kitchen the walls do not meet evenly. Years of plaster and paint hide much, but the level reveals the truth.

In a batch of pancakes the flour does not join with the water or buttermilk. They meet. They touch. They even bond, but they don't become infused with one another anymore than the floors and the trim or the corners of the walls. Each thing works with the next in unison. When the batter hits the pan, the oil and batter form one and the pancake is born.

You and I are like that pancake. When you are yet within your mother's womb, I am there. The heat of conception infuses me within you like the heat fuses the oil and batter. You will never be able to separate the two.

Today walk about knowing You are the freshly made pancake. Everyone enjoys you!

APR 8

My Mercy

My mercy knows no bounds. Seek it and it will pour over you in ways you could not have expected. You will find mercy is on your heart then on your lips. There is nothing to which man responds quicker than love carried on the wings of mercy. It is a good gift I've given you to give.

The Exaltation Of God

APR 9

The Seed

People will see the miraculous, the Divine, all around them if they are looking. They will perceive me even if they don't know who I am, if they are open to me. You get to be a living example. Just because you don't think you are doing or saying things about me, doesn't mean those to whom I send you will not recognize me living in you.

To some that recognition will drive them away. It is in those a seed has been planted. They carry it with them. Others receive the seed and are able to wait expectantly for it to grow.

Yours is to continue following me. Never will I fail to provide you harvest time and planting. Rejoice in it. Be expectant of ever more and more.

APR 10

Perfectly Willing

I don't expect perfection. I expect willingness. Be willing to walk in love, in forgiveness and in compassion for yourself. Learn to love yourself and see yourself as I do and you cannot fail to love all others with whom you come in contact. This is my great gift to you -- Love.

APR 11

Soaring with Jesus

You get to soar because you have been raised with me. It is by the Holy Spirit's power that you walk, talk and move within the sphere of my influence. Your shadow contains my power. Where it lights, I am and where I am, God is. In that place is holy ground and on holy ground is all healing; Healing from illness, from hurt and from fear. Once the healing has been, the soaring begins.

Soar high. Joy. Love and Light The Way with me.

APR 12

The Bridegroom's Gift

To you, I have given the Certificate of Marriage. You are my church -- my bride and I am your bridegroom. I look lovingly on your face.

I long to take you in my arms and protect you. I wish to provide for you. I say my vows to honor, love and protect you, to cherish you and to be there through good and bad, in sickness and in health.

In my arms, you will find unconditional love and acceptance. My house has become your home.

You are safe with me.

The Exaltation Of God

APR 13

All is Well

All is well. All really is well. You see the darkness inside the machine as I put you through the molding process. Don't be afraid. I will open the doors soon and you will emerge shining and new. You will be so useful and I will make all your edges smooth. You will be made in my image. Knowing this, can you really hate or fear the darkness? Does the pressure of the molding plate feel too much?

I didn't think so. You won't... can't be crushed. You can only emerge like me.

APR 14

How Well to Follow

How well it is within your soul to follow me. To this I say, 'Well done, my good and faithful servant.' You forsake material things and creature comforts as well as the way of the world to take up your cross and follow me.

Be not afraid to hate even yourself and I will make you fishers of men. Great will be your role.

Trust. Trust me in all. Always.

APR 15

Stoned to Death

It is no coincidence that I chose stoning as a way to save my child from sin. Those days of old called for swift saving action and I am the Rock of Ages. Those painful pelts softened the sinner and prepared him for the coming fire. The fire melts away the dross and what remains is perfection -- ready to come and sit with me at the right hand of our Father.

Be not afraid of the stones as they press inward on you. You need not be stoned to death, but still you need the pressure. You are my diamond in the making.

APR 16

Love Always

Walk uprightly. Praise even in the midst of turmoil knowing I can and will use the turmoil for all involved. Those whose lives are also touched will see me in the way they need if their eyes are open. You are not subject to their definitions. They do not read your heart or even see your actions, but I do and I walk, move and am in the midst of the turmoil on all sides. Don't look back. Continue to love me. Follow my statutes and faithfully observe my commands. Then watch how I open the windows and doors of Heaven and pour out my blessing on you. You won't contain it. I know this because you are a changed man -- a new being created in my image and able to move solely under my direction. Don't down play the significance of my life and sacrifice in you. Just act in faith and love. Always.

The Exaltation Of God

APR 17

Do You Hear Me Now?

To believe that you don't hear me because you've done something wrong or are doing something wrong is nonsense. That's a lie and is meant to get you off track. Whether you hear something or not, keep coming. Keep listening.

Your task is easy. I've taken the heavy yoke and given you my mantle to wear around your neck. Observe my statutes and faithfully follow my commands. Those are your tasks. I've said before I do not expect perfection. Where you are weak, I am strong and when you seek me, I work out perfection in you. Just keep coming to listen and hear me now.

APR 18

Peace Beneath the Surface

There is peace beneath the surface for those that know me. Everything above the surface can look torrential, but your step goes just below the surface. I walk before you and quiet the winds. I follow behind and keep the waters from swallowing you.

Get up and walk. There is peace beneath the surface for you.

APR 19

You Need Not Wisdom

You are like little children. Your understanding is so small and I know this so I approach you with gentle reproach only as I must. You know no better yet you still continue to try. You run to me with meager offerings holding them up as a toddler holds up his scribbled artwork to his parent. You listen for my footstep the way a little one desires his father's at the end of the day and fling yourself into my arms. This is the little child example fitting for you. You need not wisdom to know to love me and bring me great joy. Just come as little children.

Signed and Sealed

Your use, when you stop and listen for and to me, is so much more effective than ever you could be on your own. This is why I ask you to rid yourself of self more and more. What joy would the little child have if ever he were concerned about adult matters? Get rid of adult matters in your life. They are not your concerns to begin with. They belong to me. I can't ask you to come as a child then treat you as according to a learned man. I wish to be the ever supplying Father and I give good, good gifts to my own. Rejoice in that. The more you free yourself of obligatory responsibility, the more time you have to enjoy my goodness freely given. It's yours! It's yours because of Christ. He's the seal on your adoption paperwork.

Little Shack

A little old shack in the middle of a lake is the finest and most sought after accommodation when it is run by great healers. Who wouldn't want to come find renewal in the midst of my creation? No cost is too high.

Your value likewise is not determined by the appearance of your walls. Whether they are put together haphazardly or walls of gold, your value lies in what is inside. Within you, I have put Persian rugs and handmade mattresses with sweetly scented candles and ambiance equaled only with the view. You, in other words, are more valuable than gold, because I have filled you with myself.

Watch as people draw to you as they seek to find me. You are hidden away in hard to reach places, but to him who is insistent on finding me will find me in you. Then what a glorious stay there will be.

Anticipate it. It is coming. You are the little shack even now.

APR 22

Expectant

You are right to be expectant today. Today I plan to bless you. I decided long before you would even understand that today would be a day of blessing for you. Each day is in fact, but you have not realized it. Now you can look ahead -- just in front of you and know I stand there with gifts and a big smile. I am the Happy Father on Christmas morn. Come. Come. Enjoy!

APR 23

But Then I Rose

Noise, Distraction. How do you find the silence to listen? The noise is created inside your mind. Learn to stop it. Then you will hear.

I can only give you more if you will accept it. First, your faith must be built to hear and receive. Whether it is on the material plane or in the spiritual, faith comes first.

Faith is not some mysterious, hard to attain thing. Every child has it. Faith is simple straight forward thinking. Faith is shutting out the distracting noise. It's not listening or caring about what is all around because what is right in front of you (me) is so much more exciting, comforting and enjoyable.

Can you find enough faith within you to believe that? I'm telling you the truth. Noise is usually not really the problem. Fear is. When you stop worrying that you won't or about why you can't hear me, believe, overcome (or whatever battle is foremost), then faith reigns.

I died first. That was the hard part. It hurt. It seemingly lasted forever. Then I rose.

APR 24

The Bigger Picture

The Bigger Picture. You can't see it. Stop trying. What matters is not how I use each moment. Instead of concerning yourself with the details, your only job is to believe. Have faith and let the rest go. I will guide you and use your efforts. You need not even worry about what you say. As long as your heart is stayed on me, I honor your tongue's produce. Life with me is moment by moment.

Just ask yourself, when you are unsure, if you are trusting and loving me wholly in this moment because this is the only one that counts.

The Exaltation Of God

APR 25

Sifting Thoughts

Sift through all the noise, the thoughts. I am there. You will hear me. All is mine -- only some is meant for you; Some has been twisted, perverted. You will know what is from me. It is on your heart.

APR 26

Like Mother Like Child

I would rather have one or two good praises from you than a multitude of empty ones done out of obligation. You can't take a praise and use it for an end result. Rather you offer a praise sincerely and I use it as an end result. With each sincere lifting of your mind, you are changed. When you let outside influences and concerns influence your thought life, you lose. You miss out on some goodness I wish to bestow. Do you not yet see how what I want for you and how I instruct you is continually for your good not my gain? What need have I of you? My only need is for your love -- a child's love for his father. It is no different from your desire for love from your children and you know the hurt born of their rejection, hurtfulness and forgetfulness. They get caught up and you can forgive it, but you wish for it other ways. So too do I want other things for and from you.

Come to me out of sincerity and watch me bless you on every side. I will move mountains for you simply because you are mine and make me proud.

Ever Safe with Me

You build upon the examples you see every day. In your life there is never a moment I am not there using every circumstance to accomplish my goals. You are the thread I use to sew one part to another and I have interlocked you with all that I create and am. I breathe out and as the thread at my chest, you move with me. I place my hand upon my heart and hold you near. You are ever safe with me.

APR 28

Reason Enough

Hear the singing. Look for the good. These simple things, if you do them, will make Me happy. That should be reason enough.

APR 29

Salvation Alive

You are beginning to understand my Spirit and as you do, growth and maturity happen almost without notice. You end up seeing instead just how far you have to go. Continue working out salvation in your life. I will continue working out perfection in you.

People often become bewildered when I command they work out their own salvation. Salvation is a gift by Grace. It takes, though, your efforts of appreciation to become visible in your life. If you are saved, but do not declare it, what good have you done for my kingdom? The answer 'none' would cause you great sadness when at once (on Judgment Day) it was all revealed to you.

The Exaltation Of God

The Apple's Role

'The apple doesn't fall far from the tree.' You are the apple. I am the tree and the Sunshine and the Grass and the Rain. When you rest on the ground, you can look up knowing you are part of Greatness. Your roots dig in deeply and drink from hidden wells. Your branches reach high and wave proudly in the wind. Majesty, Apple, is your inheritance and 'you are the apple of my eye.'

The Exaltation Of God

MAY 1

Real Rest

I am the perfecter of your faith so stop beating yourself up about it. Run to me. Run. Run. Run. I will meet you on the way and then we'll have some fun. I'm going to show you what it means to my brothers and sisters when they are faithful to run toward my joy. Just remember, you may feel too tired to run but if you do it, I meet you and bring you rest, real rest.

MAY 2

I Am Not

You worry about too many details. Keep your thoughts stayed on Me. Push out all else. I work out details. If I can order particles of dust to form mountains, I can surely deal with the details of your life and just as you hear me now, you will hear me as I direct you in the details.

You do not want to create for yourself yet. You do not know how. Instead of separating order from chaos, you take chaos and try to shape it into order. Remember I have said your ways are not my ways and my ways are not yours. Only I know how to give good order. Trust me to do it for you. I love you enough that helping you through, seeing you each step of the way is my great joy.

I am not a parent grown tired. I do not weary. Just love me now.

MAY 3

Those Things

Setting your mind's eye on something will cause it, for all intents and purposes, to become yours. This is like Abraham getting my vision for himself in the desert. He looked. He believed. I accounted it to him.

Likewise, having something become yours does not mean it is necessarily delivered into your hands. Be careful, therefore, what you claim or desire. Be watchful of Me and allow me to deliver substance and blessing to you. For I know what is beneficial and uplifting. I know what works with you for my will and purpose.

MAY 4

Keep Going

It is hard to hear with ears flooded with guilt. You are mine. I chose you. I chose you while you were yet at your worst. Do you really think I couldn't or wouldn't love you with all the changes you've made? Sure, you have a long way to go. The order of the day then is to keep going. Simple. Love it.

The Exaltation Of God

MAY 5

Claustrophobia

In a long dark tunnel, see the light. The direction of your focus determines the pain or the joy of the journey.

You have been placed in a body that acts as a long dark tunnel. When you first entered this world it was with centered focus. It took little time to become off kilter and for your eyes to lose sight of the light.

The nearer now you draw to the light and the more you keep your gaze upon it, the less you even remember your tunnel body and tunnel circumstances. The light pours into and through you. Suddenly it is like a tunnel miles long has become mere feet. Nothing to fear. Everything to gain.

The walls cannot crush you. They are merely guides to the light's direction. What a gift this is!

MAY 6

I am the Supply

No need for worries. You turn it over to me and I prove to you how I do not let you down. You never run out. You never run dry. I am the Great and Almighty Provider. Praise me!

What focus you place on my face erases all need of focus elsewhere. I am your supply.

I am your supply.

MAY 7

My Child Making

If I gave you too much, it would be wasted and I am not a wasteful God. I measure even the oceans. I count the raindrops. I send and know how to use everything to perfection.

New life grows within you abundantly. Like a child seen on the ultrasound, you are amazed, awed and gladdened. This is your glimpse within so that you rest assured there is growth there. I'm not changing the old dead self. I am making new growth -- a new body -- new hope to spring up inside you. Your womb once brought forth men of force. Now it brings forth spirits of accomplishment, new bodies of conquering.

Even in this, I give just the right amount. I have measured what you can contain and given you just a bit more. Give birth now for me.

The New View

I open your eyes so that you may see behind the veil a little at a time. To remove it all at once would be too much for you now. See these things and measure them against My Word. Therein you will find compassion and love with which to walk to my loved ones, your brothers and sisters. See little. Love a lot.

The Exaltation Of God

MAY 9

The Sower

You don't have to try to convince anyone of my goodness or peace that is over their lives. Pray and realize your job is given in the moment it is needed. Your preparation comes ahead of time as you spend time with me. All that follows are natural droppings along the way.

It is like a garment of fresh wheat. The wheat is woven to form the tunic then the kernels let loose and fall where they may. It's not traditional to the world's way, but it makes a beautiful piece of clothing just the same.

Be the wearer of the garment. I will plant the seed where I will.

MAY 10

From Birth to Forever

You are quick to want others to fill in the gaps. This is human nature. It is not my nature. Strive to rid your life of self -- your self and other's selves. That is not to say I command solitude, but instead singleness. Singly trust Me. I am the supply.

I supply hope. I supply courage. I supply reason. I supply the material that is needed for the journey. I am not a niggard giver. I SUPPLY!

MAY 11

My Joy

My Joy is complete in you. You think of it the opposite way, but you should know how much pleasure I take in you. You are my chosen child after my own heart. Greet all with the smiles that are written across your heart. Do it and others too will see you are my joy complete.

MAY 12

Oh to See

I open your eyes and fill your ears with my voice. You will have vision and understanding and I will clear for you the path to me. Walk directly to where I send you. Do not turn to your right or your left. Do not turn back. You must trust me even when it seems I am leading you against the grain. It's not about the ways of the body. It's all about the ways of the soul.

You were born into a body on your day but your spirit was born in me in eternity. I open your eyes.

MAY 13

You Walk

You walk around in a daze not fully understanding, not able to see and think. You are like children on a desert island. Your mind is full of wonder. Your heart still full of fears. You are too small to see above bushes and do not know where to turn.

I open a sunlit path and guide you on the narrow way. Along the journey you find treasures of foods and beauty like you've never seen before. Slowly on these walks you learn to hear and trust me.

Come along and walk with me.

The Exaltation Of God

MAY 14

The New Day

We, being in human form, were not made to be self centered. I include myself with you because it is as true of my physical body as it is of yours.

In this form, our duties are to praise God, trust Him and follow Him in all our ways. We cannot, physically cannot, mentally cannot, if we are first considering ourselves.

Add to that, so long as we tie our creature in with what form we have been given for our valley travels, we will never seek first God's Kingdom. It (our body) becomes the first and foremost site of sin. It becomes a god we place before the one true God.

The greatest commandment is love. To love out of pure necessity of finding God... To love God more than anything and everything else... Then to love yourself enough to realize your body is simply a tool... These things are all added to you. Mind, body and soul all join in unison to praise Me, the Savior. That is enough.

MAY 15

Crave Me

Seek to crave me more and more. Realize I am the taste of all things good. I am that which fills the empty spaces. I am the bread. No other craving of food will do. None will satisfy the way I will. Crave me. Just crave me.

MAY 16

Hobble On

When you look into your own life, you see the crippled, broken being, the useless beggar. When I look into you, I find my Son; Wholeness, Goodness and Mercy all lingering and meandering through every part of you.

Today you learn humility. As you recognize in yourself that what you see in others is the reflection of your own man-being, you must then be humbled by your flaws. Take heart, though, because as you strive toward seeing me in all you meet, you see more of me in yourself. You become like the crippled beggar hobbling toward me just to reach me and be healed. 'Tis a good thing -- a very good thing.

MAY 17

My Answer Comes

Storm heaven! Take it by force. Shake it with your requests and see if I won't pour out a legion of angels to answer you. I heard you before you called. I planned for this day. I set workers to plant seeds. Whatever victory comes, give it back to me.

MAY 18

Form

To some you are (and will be) detestable. They'd sooner cut off their arm than to have to spend one day with you. Be not concerned. I have made you as I have made you to accomplish my will and purpose. To some it is only in this form that you would be approachable. Is that not reason enough to Praise me?

The Exaltation Of God

MAY 19

Attitude

Is your attitude sincere? Do you go about performing because of how it makes you feel or because you think it is what I want? Motivation is surely something upon which I have my eye, but direction is that small spirit guiding I send you. Please listen.

MAY 20

The Inside Channel

Listen, you don't have to understand the ways. In fact, you cannot. I write on other's hearts. I plan the ways and I clear the paths. What tools I use, you've never even imagined. Just because you can't know the way doesn't mean you should not feel the blessing of it happening. Praise me and watch how I pour my Spirit onto and into you while you wait.

It is like the spring showers. What happens when the rain falls and the plants absorb their fill that causes the bloom to become its beautiful self, you do not know in entirety. Still you enjoy the pitter patter of the raindrops and the fresh smell of my washing the world long before you gather blossoms for your table.

Praise me.

MAY 21

Be Thou Holy

With each meal of meat, you are like the priests eating the sacrificial lamb. Be respectful of it and thank me. Ask me to bless it. With its blood, I cleanse the flesh. With my blood, I cleanse your soul. Don't take either sacrifice lightly. Life given for your sake matters and it's your job to be thankful and receive my blessings for it. You are the priests of this generation.

MAY 22

Please Welcome

Please welcome the little children. Show them love. Please welcome the old. Show them patience. Please welcome the altered ones. Show them concern. Please welcome me and I will show you grace.

MAY 23

In Your Turn

All is timed out perfectly and the timing is ever in my control. In my hands are the arms of time. They move at my breath. In-out. One second at a time. A steady rhythm ticking off blessing after blessing. And when you join your breath to mine, time belongs to you as well. In your turn, time is compelled.

MAY 24

All the More

I am like the cool breeze in the desert heat. I am like the soothing flow of a glass of wine after a long day. I am the assurance of all things safe and good. I am Savior, Friend and Lover. Come to me. Trust me. Love me all the more.

The Exaltation Of God

Perfect Joy

My answers don't always come as you expect them, but they do come swiftly. You must rejoice. You know how and you must do it knowing I am trustworthy and bringing you such goodness, goodness you only mildly understand. Imagine my joy when you rejoice over a gift even though you don't fully understand it. Does my joy make you joyful?

It is in times like these when you least understand what I am doing and how I purpose the events surrounding you that you must find joy in knowing I am joyed perfectly in your joy.

MAY 26

Coming Soon

Out of my great supply comes all the things you could ever want or use to bless others. Do the kingdoms I gave my loved ones before you tell you nothing?

You fear the attraction to things, but it is that very godly fear that assures me this is not an issue. You have come to know me and know I am the real treasure. The rest is because I love you and want to bless you and cause you to bless others.

Be prepared for big and busy work ahead. It's going to be good.

MAY 27

To Withhold Your Truth

Sometimes for people to know your story only serves to separate the two of you. Your experience may help you to relate to their pain, but in relating it, it causes division by comparison.

Listen more. Pray more. Trust more so that in each instance you will clearly know by my direction what you should reveal or keep to yourself. In most instances, the person doesn't want to know the exact experience, but instead wants their feelings validated by your understanding. Let me be your mouthpiece.

MAY 28

In the End

You cannot live on old bread. What I give you, I give you fresh every day -- day after day without fail. I am your manna -- take, eat, be blessed.

Praise. Praise. Praise. Praise. When you think you've praised enough, be a blessing to me and praise some more.

I keep coming back to you. You keep coming back to me.

The Exaltation Of God

MAY 29

Home Is

Muck like you think of your state heritage, there was a sense of belonging to Joseph and Mary as they traveled to Bethlehem for the census. Although Mary surely felt the pang of birth nearing on the way, the electricity of excitement about reaching their homeland was in them as well.

Think of that excitement mixed with feelings of comfort. You've felt this same way after a time away from home.

Realize that the very sense of peace you have found in 'home' is but a shadow of what you know in me when you turn all to me. I am home and I am wherever you are. Peace. Peace. My peace I give you.

MAY 30

At My Chest

How joyful can you get in the midst of your troubles? Can you picture yourself above the trouble -- swept up into my arms, carried safely to my chest? Can you hear my soft laughter as I catch a glimpse of your joy? Isn't this good? Isn't it beautiful? How I love to be with you, my child and my friend.

This is the place to run at every moment of distress. This is my gift of eternity. You are truly safe within my arms.

MAY 31

The Growth of Great & Mighty

Why do you count me out in your mind? Why do you so easily give room in your imaginations for images you've designed instead of my eye for you? Which seems the smarter choice?

Be ye shrewd in your dealings. This isn't just about business. This is clearly about how you treat your self. Shrewdly deal with the growing imaginations. Cut them off from the life source -- the blood source and replace them with that to which I guide you. Then feed that which I send you out of your daily supply of Manna.

I will cause it to grow into a great and mighty thing.

JUN 1

The Reflections in My Eyes

The natural inclination of the human mind is to think he knows the way. This is true of you, your friends, your acquaintances and even strangers. You all look for a way through life and when you find even a bit of peace or happiness think that way will work for everyone.

Usually whatever way you stumble on that works is a direct result of some element of truth from my kingdom. The Secret is a good example of this. I want you to have the image of my goodness in your mind's eye to help you avoid your own creation which will absolutely fall short. Instead man twists that to be the full focus. Look at what I guide you to see then look back at me without turning back to your own way.

If you knew just how short your vision falls, you'd never want to see anything but the reality of mine eye. I'm faithful. Believe in Me. Have faith a little while more.

Oh Sweet Healing

I am more effective than the most powerful medicine. My relief is permanent if only you will realize it. Accept it like you accept from me the rain and the rainbow. From where else could they come? Is it not far too organized beauty to be random? That is my gift to you.

True Humility

The people in heaven don't, for even a moment, forget that it is grace that allowed them entrance. That is the true definition of humility. If you want humility, strive for that remembrance. You don't have to think little of your talents. Those I gave you and they are to be celebrated as such. You need not see yourself as unworthy. I would not have chosen you if that were the case. Just work to remember that were I not in your life even before you acknowledge and accept me, there would be nothing of light and value. Therein lies your need of my mercy and there your reason for humility.

Cries in the Wind

Your prayers, like the cries of your heart, rise to meet me and they do not go unheard. Do you not yet understand that every moment of every day is filled with my love for you? I will never leave you abandoned. Even now you are surrounded by angels -- messengers carrying my love and comfort to you and your cries and pleas to me. I hear you. I know. I understand. I love.

Place of Faith

Don't lose heart. You don't see what's behind the scenes. You don't understand how even the dust listens to my commands. I have said with faith the size of a grain of mustard, you can move mountains. More than that is understanding the size of a grain of mustard. If you can't fathom something, you can't create it.

I call you to be creators using my power -- my understanding. Allow what doesn't make sense to swirl around so you can get the vision, even if only faintly and create from that place of faith. Create using my name. It's a very powerful thing.

The Exaltation Of God

JUN 6

Rest, Rest, Rest

Rest is essential right now. Any time you are in the midst of big changes, plan for plenty of rest. There will come a time when this is not the way, but for now rest, rest and rest some more.

I will be beside you always.

JUN 7

Oneness with God

When you know you are representing me -- even that people will see me in you, can you act out of self imposed thought or desire? This is the power of having me in your life.

Not everyone will immediately recognize. Some need to hear about me and how I work in your life. Some will need to be shown. Let me guide you so you know which is which. You will find people will ask for what they need. Until you learn to hear, I will guide.

You and I are one.

JUN 8

The Weight of the Wait

Waiting isn't easy. I do understand what a struggle it is. Do you trust me even in this?

When the wait seems long and tiring, know I am faithful. The net had to be cast again before the fish were caught. Your wait is as perfectly planned.

JUN 9

The Palace Floors

Sweep out the door that which does not belong. It lingers at the floor and even in it and since it does not belong to you, sweep it out. You must clean house so that where I reside is worthy of a King. Then imagine the power of that place.

The palace doesn't have the power, but it holds it. The palace also keeps the workers who carry out the commands. Call out and it comes or command and it goes. Only I stand higher because you have been seated with me and sealed by me. All know and see My mark on you and will obey.

You are in a unique situation -- both servant and child of the King. Work tirelessly like a good and faithful servant. Reap ceaselessly like the King's heir.

The floor belongs to you.

The Exaltation Of God

JUN 10

Faith Building Exercise

Leaving tomorrow to tomorrow is a practice in faith. Trust Me.

Trust Me today for tomorrow. It, this trusting, builds your faith. Let it grow now for the great things to come. Remember, your reward in heaven is greater than all the good of today, yesterday and tomorrow.

Just This Moment

When you find yourselves thinking ahead of this day, stop and think only of this moment. Are you giving me all in this moment? Would you, if suddenly I stood in front of you, feel comfortable with your current actions? Would I smile and be pleased with you? Would you make me laugh?

How good it is to spend time laughing -- not laughing for laughing's sake or laughing because of someone's pain, but laughing out of pure joy like you would with a child. I hope to find you doing something that causes me silly, joyful laughter.

Just this moment.

JUN 12

Summer Morn

How sweet is the love that is returned -- the admiration equally shared. Whether it is human to human or between my child and me, nothing compares. I love it just as you do.

Today you will find the work easier. The sun will shine like a smiling child while the wind will cool like a fan on a southern porch. Enjoy every part of my gifts to you and those that pass between you.

You are a light and you are loved.

Say Hello

The old farmer's wife was up before dawn doing chores then preparing breakfast for her clan. She welcomed me into her day and as she went along, I went with her.

That one who trusts me with the little details like gathering eggs or milking a cow and invites me to the breakfast table is the one who knows peace in a storm. She is the one who need never be lonely and the one who has friendship and love that can never be taken away.

JUN 14

Your Day of Rest

There are days when, by all appearances, supplies are far from your reach. On these days be thankful for what is in your storehouses and praise me for what is stored for you in mine.

The Exaltation Of God

The Wrapped Gift

I love to reward my children for following me. Today is one reward. There are more -- many more to come. Stop. Look. Covet none but me and my will to the exclusion of all else, particularly your own selfish desires and find my love in reward form at every turn. Surely this is not my only way of showing love, but it is one I especially enjoy for the joy it brings my children.

JUN 16

Trust and Train

You crave my word because it is beneficial to you. Even today, I speak through it. Run to it. Run with full vigor and in it, I will give you rest.

This is good training ground. Learn here to serve cheerfully so that I may send you further and to more who are even less able to express appreciation.

Yes, the work is great and the workers few. In this world, accolades are nearly nonexistent but your reward is coming. I promise you it is coming. It has, in fact, already been completed and is ready in heaven for you.

Trust me in this and continue training.

JUN 17

You are Chosen

You were being prepared long before you recognized. You were being called far before you heard. You were chosen at the beginning of time. Think of that. What an awesome thing for you to learn. Now you must seek to grasp it.

I chose you. You. The escape route is long cut off. Now you are stuck with me. No matter how much you turn, you cannot escape what you've learned about me. I am your friend and I chose you. You, Dear One, You.

JUN 18

So Soon

So soon you venture out. Those things that have been comforts will no longer be, but rest assured you will quickly find new comforts and so much more.

Yes, there will be those who little understand your journey. There will be those who wish to follow. Do not try to lead. Teach only how to hear me so that I may lead. Only I know the way for each man. Only I know his heart.

So soon. Yes, so soon you will be in a new moment so for now, enjoy this one.

JUN 19

Nightly Rainbow

Even in the darkest of nights when the world seems so black you feel you are breathing in thick nothingness, I am there with you. No dark shadows can overtake you. I have made you mine. The seal I placed on you in my blood will not wash away. I am the Protector, the Freer, the King. Praise me out of your love for me and know I am always there.

The Exaltation Of God

In My Care

How little it benefits you to think ahead. You write stories that will not nor were they ever meant to be. When you trust me, I write stories that move mountains, stir the wind and part the sea just for you.

Do you not yet see how I choose for you a way that sets you in small battles to build your strength in faith while preserving your life and sanity? You ask about the other times when the choice was yours and you chose badly. To that I say you yet stand. Isn't that correct?

Remember my promise to the Father. I lose not one.

JUN 21

In Remembrance of Me

They put the coins beneath the tree then waited for me to take it. Afterward, if they saw me come, we would eat.

They prepared a big meal. The meats, chicken, por and pig were cubed and boiled until the broth was rich and like sauce. The children gathered and the festivities began.

This is one ethnic group's Christmas celebration. It comes in the middle of the year and causes them to remember me.

The men tire under the load of work unusual to them. The women glory in it. Other groups wish to join in.

It isn't about my birth marking my time, but the birth of my example into their lives and the dedication of my time to come in the months ahead.

Do this in remembrance of me.

Hidden Treasure

You still fear, but it is not out of love. It is out of lack of understanding. Read more. Spend more time with me. Ask for more understanding and you will gain it.

Seek every part of my Kingdom treasure. No thing is too small to overlook. If you have found love, look for peace. If you've found peace, look for provision. If you have found provision, seek bounty. No treasure is so small it won't benefit you and in my Kingdom are many treasures hidden from the world.

Remember, though, you are no longer part of the world but instead a joint heir with me.

Rejoice. Rejoice. Rejoice.

The Exaltation Of God

JUN 23

Stay Close

It is far easier to stay close to me than to have to try to return to me. Although I go nowhere, your senses and experiences blockade your ability to hear me. Listen. Listen as much as you are able. The next while will require your ability to be in touch with me more than you can imagine.

All around is need and you can only fill it if you are connected to the source of supply. You well know you do not have what others need but when you have me, no one else knows it. Yes, it's ironic, but isn't it sweet irony? My ways are always good.

JUN 24

The Jealousy

You have learned that I am a jealous God. Think how that applies to that upon which you spend your time. I am a God who must come first -- not for my own sake, but for yours.

Have no other gods before me. Make no graven images. TV's, computers, busy schedules can all be what they are, but often they are the most homely graven images of all. Oh how you honor them instead of me.

I Make

I love to embrace you and long for those moments you recognize that and remember my warmth. You are my child. I made you and I love you. My plans for you are good and bring you peace.

Remember the peace. It is there, in the remembrance, that you enter into the mansion I prepared for you. Look around. Enjoy. This is your place of safety and security.

I make mansions of peace.

JUN 26

Punishment and Purging

The pity shown for evil deeds is a mistaken use of compassion. Recognize that I am the Judge and I have set up the system of punishment and death as a purging principle. Rejoice in it.

Do not rejoice in another's pain but that I value your spirit enough to allow the physical suffering for the spiritual gain.

Simply put, I love you.

Little Joys

Look for the little joys. Rejoice in them. Praise me for them. It is in the little joys that you get through each moment with grace. Your body may betray you. Others may think it crap, but you need not a bodily grace for spirit rest.

Little joys mark time so much better than the ticking of a clock. So too do they play out in your memory like a fond melody. They are one of my gifts to you.

Little joys equal lasting Joy.

JUN 28

The Baker in Me

What man cannot provide is not outside my abilities. Do you have faith in me to provide? I see your needs and planned for the provision long ago. Trust me. I am like the baker ever happy to bring my family good food.

JUN 29

Fill the Spaces

Fill the spaces with me. Those quiet moments, the interlude in conversation, during the hum of a crowd, fill up with me. I long to be with you and your spirit longs to be with me.

Peace comes in like a flood when you put me in your life, in the middle of all that you are and do. I do not disappoint.

You give me praises, but today I give you thanks for coming once again to me.

JUN 30

Perfection

Praise is the kiss upon the seal. Send your cares and concerns on with love knowing I am happy to come to the rescue. I love saving, but more than that, I love it when you trust me to save.

There is a great celebration in Heaven when one of mine praises in the midst of fear. It (praise) casts out the fear with perfect love in action.

Perfection. Perfection. Perfection. That is my wish and blessing for and over you.

JULY 1

The Pattern of Art

The most intricate and intimate designs come from deep within the minds of those who love me. It is there they find patterns from my own pattern book. With my eye, I guide you to them. Accept this and watch how quickly your creativity seems to grow.

For you, gathering the daily bread may be a task. It may be a mundane chore, but some days it will be a piece of art. When you can begin to see the art in those everyday jobs, you will have found my pattern book. Therein lies the secret to my greatest creations.

Each and every day enjoy.

JULY 2

My Silent Vow

When you can make up conversations we might have because you know me so well, then you can say, 'Lord Lord' and I will reply knowingly.

Can you hear what I would say when you're tired and ready for a night of sleep? Do you have words for my celebration when you succeed?

Strive to hear me so you will hear me even when I am silent. You are my child and friend.

JULY 3

Starve No More

Spiritual starvation is far worse than physical suffering and it is a lack that is everywhere. My people are dying. You are feeling it so that you will act on it. Stop starving! I've given you all the food you will ever need but it must be eaten daily. Feed others. That is not to say, 'Go! Preach!' but be the word in living, loving form. Do this and others will find reason to seek out the Word for themselves.

Starve no more.

JULY 4

Flaws and All

You experience my wisdom when you seek to praise me and experience my light when you listen for my footfall. My messages come and into your heart is yet another light turned on. So long as you are in this body, you have been given limitation. It is the freedom of your soul, light and wise, that makes me come back to you time and time again. I love that soul I made you to be. I love you -- flaws of body and all.

JULY 5

I Remind

The tasks before you should not shut me out of your day nor of your morning. You need me most when life's chores are pressing in. I am like the little reminder recorded and set to play when one opens the fridge. Without my voice first, you might well get into things not best for you. Keep me close, ever so close.

I will replay the messages until you learn them and even then sometimes as a reminder. I really do long for your return home.

The Exaltation Of God

JULY 6

To Save a Man

The fire will not save the man. It is there to purify. Each man must choose to enter or remain outside. It is within the fire, though, that man finds I walk with him like a cool barrier ever pure and saving. Do you choose to let me refresh your soul while your body burns or would you rather feel the heat, the suffering?

The words are strong because you need them as a reminder. I love you both body and soul. Not one part goes unnoticed. Trust I know how best to save you.

JULY 7

The Path of Compassion

There are times you must be like the bars of a cell. They do not feel compassion for the prisoner they hold. They are cold and indifferent. You have heard 'judge not, lest ye be judged' yet have applied it in a one-sided manner. Let me guide you to those to whom I wish to guide you. Simply being able to go to one in need is not reason enough to go. Follow me or fail.

Yours is not to go blindly because of falsely conceived compassion, but to go boldly with the greatest Love, me.

Count on Me

Does the squirrel count the nuts before he gathers? Does the bee gauge the pollen? Why then do you calculate your wages? I am THE Supply, not a supply. Count on me.

JULY 9

Trust Me

Trust me. Trust me. Trust me. I know who to send, when to send, how to send. I design perfection. When you trust me, you will live in perfection. No, not everything around you will be perfect, but I will handle it perfectly for you.

Trust me. Trust me. Trust me.

JULY 10

Trust Me Today

Those lines etched deep in your face are evidence of years of worry that did not belong to you. They vary only in depth to those some have etched into their wrists. I am the God who created all.

Trust me to handle the problems from your life. They are but little bumps in your path. Trust me. Trust me today.

The Exaltation Of God

JULY 11

My Clarity

You are not subject to anyone's thoughts and opinions. 'What others think about you is none of your business.' No matter how many times thoughts and memories flood your mind, push them away as not belonging to you. You would not accept murderous thoughts as your own. No more should you accept anyone's opinion other than mine. I call you my own, blessed, made pure and holy. Believe me. I know what I'm talking about. I know you better than you know yourself. Listen only to what I declare about who you are. I have perfect vision and see you clearly.

Your Sacrifice

Offer me all. When you sacrifice, it is not in vain. No matter what it is, I accept it gladly and with a heart of rejoicing. I know it costs you to make these sacrifices, but no matter the cost, I repay many fold -- pressed down, good measure and overflowing.

You think of the small sacrifices and give them little value. I think of them and see pure diamonds in perfect light. The little sacrifices are your light yoke and the jewels polished for your crowns.

Rejoice! Rejoice! Rejoice!

JULY 13

From Glory to Glory

How much of what you've once gotten do you still have? Can you even remember a 1/3 of the material things you've had? How much less do you remember the foods you've eaten or the songs you've sung?

This is a world of experiences -- a place to go from one glory to the next until you once again return home.

This is not a new lesson, but one worth remembering as you go about your days.

JULY 14

The Live Stock

The world thought he had everything -- fame, fortune, talent, happiness. A gun doesn't care about those things. It doesn't differentiate.

Neither Abraham nor Moses gave birth to their livestock yet it was counted to them. It was theirs. It belonged to them. I gave it to them yet they were simply the caretakers. They didn't 'do' anything to usher the livestock into their lives. It came in abundant supply because I gave it to them.

To be blessed means even the wild beast recognizes me in you. The enemy who fights against you cannot aim his cold steel barrel at you and have it destroy you because my shield of protection runs all around your camp. How many armies did the Israelites defeat because of the Strength of my Arm?

Count yourself blessed. Use your mouth to convince your heart and your heart to convince your circumstances.

The world looks on the outside circumstances like at fame and fortune, but the spirit sees hearts and it is there where blessings begin to form for each of you.

The Exaltation Of God

JULY 15

Receiving Blessings Blesses Me

In my hands, you can rest. I am faithful and bless because I love to bless. Receive so you may bless me in return. What a wonderful way to say 'thank you.'

JULY 16

You are Allowed

Your anger crowds out my thoughts. Yes, my voice can get through the cloud of irritation and upset emotion, but why would I want to be there? My love for you overrides all and is so strong that I am willing to step back and allow you time with your negativity. You must feel it now to be drawn to me later. Remember your purpose for being here? You are here as a second chance to be drawn unto my name to praise me. Sacrifice the anger and praise me now.

JULY 17

It All Belongs to Me

You've read that even the fires of hell are from me. How much more all that is in this world? Begin to see all as Mine and worries will grow smaller and more inconsequential.

Whether a person knows he or she belongs to me, I am in them and with them. Whether or not you recognize me in the flowers or grass or in the thunder and rain, doesn't mean I am not there. I Am encompasses everything.

Can you trust me in faulty wiring as you do in the rising sun? I'm as faithful in one as I am the other. Believe in my anointing over, in and through all.

JULY 18

Invisible

What is invisible to the rest of the world need not be invisible to you. Some of the most beautiful of my creation is invisible until you have eyes to see.

Pray for eyes to see.

JULY 19

Bargaining Power

It is the human mind that sees the need for bargaining power. Don't listen to him. He will lead you astray.

In my world, the world of spirit and truth, the laws of supply and demand are suspended. What you receive is not contingent upon what you can offer. Where did it say the rock had to give something before I caused honey to flow through it?

I create therefore the supply comes out of my creation. Do those things I've asked of you and do them without question. Then watch as I create and supply all your needs according to the riches in Christ.

Live richly, My Child. Live richly.

The Exaltation Of God

JULY 20

Expect More

I load the sea like I load the storehouses with your treasure. Consider the magnitude of the pot. What I want for you, I set aside in anticipation of your request.

Expect great things.

JULY 21

Faith Fills the Tanks

Faith will fill the gas tank as surely as it did the flour jar and honey pot. Test it. Try it. Have faith in me to create, refine and put gas into your tank. You can have a never ending supply or enough to get you where I want you to go until I'm ready for you to go on.

Expect big things. I have been waiting to supply!

JULY 22

Judgment

The guns are locked and loaded. The target is made ready. The power of my decisions will explode in a fiery array. Soon... soon you will be made so aware of how I judge fairly.

JULY 23

Your Gifts to Me

You seek direction but maps will only take you so far. Listen. Listen for me more.

Let no distractions keep you from me. You need this time as do I. I long for it and enjoy it even more than you do. You don't yet understand this so just trust me.

The coming days will test your resolve to follow me. Stay close.

Your adventures are great gifts from me -- even the challenging ones. View them that way so you will remember to enjoy the moments in the midst of the unknown. Enjoy the unknown. It is my gift to you.

Draw near me more and more and give me the gift of your friendship -- your gift to me.

JULY 24

Service Blessings

You can't fix all the problems. Serve as you can serve and allow me to do the rest. While you serve, I will continually lift you up. I will not leave you -- not even for a second.

There is much to distract you and steal your focus. Just keep turning back to me. Your sadness does not go unnoticed and I bottle your tears for safe keeping.

I do look at you and say 'well done, Good and Faithful Servant.' I do so love you and am blessed by your service.

The Exaltation Of God

JULY 25

Turning Over All

The second half of each day dedicate to Me. Give me all of it the way you give yourself to me each morning. It is in the complete abandonment to me that you will find peace.

JULY 26

State of Worship

When you come to listen in a state of worship and awe, you will hear more clearly. The tones and intonations of my voice will ring out in your mind as certainly as if you saw me face to face.

You need not wait to be a part of the eternal. The eternal is within you and all around you. You need only recognize and join it with your worship. Oh how I love having you here!

Lazy Days of Summer

Never be rushed. I can stop time and make the sun stand still. I need not push you in many directions to accomplish my goals. Learn to love the 'lazy days of summer.' These are the days you can move most easily in my light.

The Bonus Life

You are tasting of the joys of my service. Imagine what spoils go to the king's servants -- what bonuses they get as part of their regular service. How much more, you who are a child of The King.

Live a life of bonus. You think of the deceased as dancing with angels and singing in the heavenly choir. Lift your feet and your voice and join in. That is the joy of the bonus life and it belongs to you.

JULY 29

The Jailer's Keys

I open your eyes and help you to see. Trust me in this so that you will know for which to be in prayer and when to wipe the dust from your feet.

I will open your eyes to things others would not see and those things others wish you would not. Nothing will be hidden nor off limits to you. Supply, understanding and the action for each is given to you -- handed over like keys to the jailer.

Take captive for me and move on. I love you!

The Exaltation Of God

JULY 30

Keep Ready

Be ever at the ready for my call. Be ever listening so you hear it even when I whisper. Be ever watchful to see all I wish to show you. Be ever perfect even as your Father in Heaven is perfect. This is my will for you.

The messages will come frequently. Your open heart will receive them. You are mine. Claim for my Kingdom what you will and I will turn it over to you. All because I love you!

JULY 31

Choose This Day

Part of not offending (and of not being offended) is not over thinking things. Allow me to show you that which I want you to see and to cause understanding where I choose. You, in your thinking, have too many variables to consider. I, in my revelation power, know all truths -- all facts and can bring you to the realizations you need for this moment.

This is still a moment by moment life. Choose ye this day to follow me and call me 'Lord! Lord!' that I may answer, 'Yes, My Child, come!'

The Exaltation Of God

Everything

I plant seeds within you and whether you remember or not, they grow. Embrace the moments you discover a forgotten thing. I have taken the thought or allowed it to be whisked away and even in lost thoughts, I am there. Perfectly.

The more you begin to let go of the reins (to stop making plans), the easier it is to enjoy your journey. If you don't make plans at all, how can you see a day as one gone wrong?

The more you see each thought, whether originating from you or from me, as one that belongs to me, the less you are able to worry about where they go or take you. And the more your thoughts line up with mine.

Give me everything -- absolutely everything.

AUG 2

Do You Know?

There is no hurt too big for my loving arms, no pain I did not bear and conquer. Turn it all over to me. Bring it to the base of the cross. Leave it at my feet and let it rise with me. This is not your burden.

Turn instead from staring at this situation and put your eyes on my face. Can you see my reflection in what is around you? Do you know who I am by how deeply you understand my love for you? Seek me. Seek me. Seek me.

Confidence

You were formed from our Father's thoughts. I was formed from his spirit. You (humanity) are the closest thing to that in all creation. He made me of his image and you in our image. If God were a mirror, I would be the glass and you, the reflection.

It is, indeed, profound to realize the Kingdom comes to you. Not only are you made in His image but you need not wait for some grand heavenly entrance to make your way through the gates and to Our Father's feet.

Just as I had all access to the Kingdom, the Power and the Glory, so too do you even now. Realize this truth more and more so that you may live in 'Thy Kingdom Come.'

AUG 4

The Power of My Name

You have long since recognized the power in a person's name to shape who they are. More recently you've discovered that the power in a name is also contingent upon the person that says it. What Larry is to one is not what he is to another. How much more power my own name carries.

Yes, to each one it means something unique and different. So too to all is it the same yesterday, today and forever.

Call on my name and use it not in vain. Spread it above, around and on your own life. Rejoice in the joy, the provisions and the saving it brings.

The Exaltation Of God

AUG 5

Cross Eyed Exhaustion

You may find yourself more tired than you've known so that continually you close your eyes and are asleep.

Filling the hours that come before the sleep with my love, laughter and honest enjoyment is good and productive even when you feel you are wasting time.

Do you not yet understand your (yes, your) supply is not contingent on a computer or filling an order or any of the world's jobs. It is fully dependent on me.

Sleep on this idea.

AUG 6

A Warning

I open doors. I close mouths. I create opportunities and stop all that may hinder your success. Listen closely that you might succeed in everything you do.

Satan opens doors and closes mouths too. Be careful of what 'great thing' is presented. It need not come from me to seem beneficial.

You will recognize the difference if you are closely listening and examining your motivations. Do you want to seize the moment because the promised result is alleviating a fear or because you recognize my signature and seal?

AUG 7

Security and Safety

To worry about air quality is to say you don't fully trust me. My signature and seal are a safeguard to those whom I love. If I send you into the furnace, do I not protect you even from the scent?

Worry does not belong in your life. Rid your mind of it by getting yourself stayed on the promises of God. What a great Father he is to provide every good word -- even that which ushers supply.

AUG 8

Or Three

Imagine the force in the spiritual realm of two or three gathered together in My Name. How far will your arms, while connected one to the other, reach? To whom could you not go? What need could you not meet?

Where I am in the midst of you is power -- all power.

Draw near continually and speak only those things I give you to say. The doors have been opened to you. Have patience while your eyes adjust to the light so you can see.

The Exaltation Of God

AUG 9

The Growing Worry

A thought in passing that causes concern turns into worry. The worry meditated upon becomes either reality or the catalyst for catastrophe.

Why let one moment of concern overwhelm you and take away many moments of joy?

AUG 10

Give Me All

Your storm has darkened the skies within your eyes. Your storm has created thunder that exists only in your ears and on your mind. The winds that blow only reach the wells within you that cause the tears to flow.

Outside all is calm. All is beautiful. All is Peace. I captured the keys to Hades. Now give me the keys to your heart.

Remember how much you can trust me. With me, all is safe and secure.

AUG 11

Be a Light

Laughter. Laughter. Laughter. 'Don't it feel good?!'

The more time you spend with me, the quicker you are to laugh and enjoy life around you -- no matter what is going on. Remember the times when a laugh got you through a difficulty? Do you remember how special the person became in your mind because of his or her ability to laugh in a storm? That is peace and joy born of me visiting you.

Spread it around.

AUG 12

Your Perfection

Your self is the purest thought of Jesus and Our Father. In the beginning when we sat as a triune being and gave thought to each and every thing, we thought of you in perfect order.

The self you see is the person reflected in mirrors. Choose to see your reflection in God's eyes and not by any other measure. The darkest reflection you will ever see is no match for even a glimmer from the heart of God.

Rejoice in who God made you to be regardless of how you feel, the way things look to you or what anyone else might say.

You are chosen and are God's perfect creation.

The Exaltation Of God

AUG 13

The Ill-Formed Plans

It is a part of your nature (or at least your nature as far as your experiences thus far) to look ahead, but in this, you must learn from the wilderness training.

When the Israelites and Christ went into the wilderness it was not with all supply. Daily I was the provider for them and daily I provide for you.

To look ahead even in plan form is not what I want you doing now. I gave you a vision for the future that you might praise me for it and know I plan good things. Even with the vision, you must live day to day trusting me and planning not.

Yes, the animals store up for the winter and when I want you to store, I will direct it. I do not need your plans to make it happen.

Trust me. Trust me. Trust me in this and in all.

AUG 14

I am Light

You call me mighty and declare nothing can resist My force yet still find yourselves in despair and fear in bits and pieces throughout the day. I do not bring this up to berate you rather to gently show you one more way to look at those moments (in those moments) so that they too can be conquered. I save. My arm reaches. Where I am is light.

I am Light.

AUG 15

Your Truth, My Joy

Look how I move when you get yourself out of the way. Your little words move hearts in a big way. Your truth, your experience and your love of me cannot be matched. My power is strong in the midst of that selfless love. Oh how I rejoice over you!

AUG 16

Sacrifice Your Heart

When, late at night, you hear the footsteps outside your window, do you give me your heart and wait expectantly for me to walk through the door?

As you consider the next job you have to do, is it with appreciation for the way I provided it?

When you contemplate that even that makes you uncomfortable, can you find me in it? Do you look for me inside yourself and rest knowing I am there?

I am there. Turn every situation over to me and rest knowing I gladly feast on the sacrifice you lay before me.

The Exaltation Of God

AUG 17

My Weapon of War

This is an emotional war being waged. Pick up the Sword of the Spirit and conquer! I have placed the enemy in your hands. Today you will have the princes' heads.

Be strong in battle. Cast out the demons. Put Satan behind you. Onward! Onward! Onward! March! March! March!

My word on your lips are a powerful weapon and I have given it to you.

AUG 18

Becoming Perfect

Losing the focus on yourself in the midst of the little things is no easy task. It is, though, the task at hand.

Look at how you define yourself. Are your talents your identity? Your appearance? Make me the defining factor. Remember I said, 'I AM.'

When I Am is who you are, there can be no obstacle too big -- no enemy too strong.

Be ye perfect even as your Father in Heaven and watch with awe all the greatness that surrounds and moves through you.

Remember we are one -- perfectly created, perfectly prepared, perfect in all ways.

AUG 19

Be Ye Reminded

You are fascinated by how I will bring to mind such details as a long lost friend. You think sometimes it is a product of the exterior (or physical) forces. Recognize and remember that no outside force is outside my field of vision. Nothing will come to you -- in memory or otherwise that I have not first measured and counted.

Be ye reminded of sweet times, rejoice and be glad. Be ye reminded of sadness, rejoice even more.

Only I know how best to use each and every moment. Listen closely. Do as I ask and be ye reminded I Am.

AUG 20

Notice Me

You get to spend time with me all day, every day if you will but recognize it. It will be to you as intimate a time in every breath as your time with me in the mornings. How few ever discover this beautiful truth. Even those who, like you, have come to me day after day, year after year can too easily miss my deeper call.

Don't miss my call. I want to be with you always -- all ways guiding, supporting and loving. Yes, I am there already.

Please notice.

The Exaltation Of God

AUG 21

Sufficient for Thee

Don't attempt to put me into a box. You are limiting me and with your limitations I cannot be the Super Natural God you crave. At this point in your journey let it be sufficient that I am your trustworthy God.

Each moment of blind trust that comes in spite of your body's desire otherwise is a great and beautiful sacrifice of your heart and that I honor.

My reasons are always for your good and benefit. Can you fathom living in the fullness of that knowledge each and every day? How easy it would be for you to get through the day if you knew without any shadow of a doubt that I am always working for your best, most sufficient, joyous journey. I am the great Philanthropist and I believe in your mission enough to back it.

AUG 22

Your Value

The value of your work (yea even your own value) cannot be measured by human hands. Rejoice in knowing I measure with great exactness and I reward most handsomely.

You have been met with many gifts along this way but none so valuable as this.

I will appraise.

AUG 23

Forgiveness

You will fail, but as you strive you will have fewer and fewer moments of failure. Keep striving.

My forgiveness is great enough and I have already forgiven you. Don't cling to the mistakes or you will create many more reasons for which you need to gain forgiveness.

You must not be like the child who wishes for a yellow bow then wants to return it feeling unworthy once her father delivers it.

Tell yourself over and over that my grace is sufficient for you.

That is My Value.

AUG 24

Another Point of View

You are safe. Even when you cannot understand the lessons on value, you can know you are ever safe within my arms.

Try to understand your value based solely on safety and surety of that safety. Focus only on that for now.

I visit daily and will never leave you alone.

With me, you are safe.

The Exaltation Of God

AUG 25

To Be Known

You must come to listen more often -- not just to hear but to record what you learn. This is an important part of your process. What I pour into you must sweeten those around you.

Take the tools you have gained and resist and fight. Rejoice in your new knowledge and that you overcome. I am your strength and your security. I am with you always.

AUG 26

Filling Batter

Fit me into every crack and crevice. Place me in as many holes as you are able. The more locations I am invited, the more I happily go. Do you feel my healing power in the broken areas of your own life? How much more in the lives who have known me not.

I am like the egg mixed into the batter. You cannot separate me from my own.

AUG 27

Of Mysterious Ways

Life's imperfections are but testing grounds. Take to them with gusto knowing this is your chance to do very well. Handle each imperfection with grace and love whomever is a party to the imperfection. Finally, remember love never fails to produce love -- even if you don't see it happen.

AUG 28

Caves of Experience

A heavy heart is a sign in my followers of compassion for others and passion in one's own life. I understand what ails you and send my Comforter to you.

Allow my comfort to reach you. In the dark moments begin to recognize my touch as I guide you through the lightless caves of experience. You may not see, but I am the Light and am never lost. You are safe with me.

I grant you favor and blessing at every turn and all along the smooth easy path too.

AUG 29

Multiplication

When your list is full of things to do and it seems you can't get to them quickly enough, remember to be the sharpened knife doing a job well. Take each task and like Jesus offered the bread and fish to me before performing his task of the hour, so too should you offer to me your work. In the offering, I take up the cause and multiply the efforts of your hands.

Rejoice in this newly found idea of old.

The Exaltation Of God

AUG 30

The Building Plan

The frustrations build up when you are not turning all over to me or when self is having a party within you. Either way you are the master over self. I am the master over you. Would I not want you to be at peace so you are able to do your best work? Yes and I provide the way.

Bring me all your tithes and offerings -- each distress as well as each joy -- each disappointment and each success. Then I will build you up while the frustrations and self will fall and crumble.

Rejoice. Rejoice. Oh Rejoice!

AUG 31

The Smallest Part

You do not need the big picture in order to hear the little instructions along the way. The assembly line worker at the bolt factory doesn't necessarily understand all the workings of a rocket yet is still able to make the all important part. So too must you be content to do my will with knowing assurance that your part is of the greatest importance.

The Exaltation Of God

SEPT 1

Your Poem Life

Sometimes words are not what you need. Instead of a verbal message, I wrap my arms around you and draw you close. I understand anguish. I see your tears and am gathering them even as they fall. Rest. Rest. Rest, My Darling, Rest.

Let me be the author of this poem that is your life. I will write in it sweetness and love like you have never known. And oh how perfectly will be the lines that describe my design for you.

I bless you even now.

SEPT 2

The Ailing Life

Although your lips have been full of complaints and your heart full of wrath, I have not stopped loving you. I understand your frustrations and what has led you into turmoil, but I call you to return to peace. I am not binding you with demands but freeing you from the ills that cage you. You may choose to hold onto your anger, but if you do, soon it will not be a cage holding you but a hot resin encasing you.

Let life's ailment not take your breath away. Even that I gave you in the beginning -- a breath from my very own.

SEPT 3

Unheard

In the thunder, you do not always understand my voice. In the day, you do not always understand my measured choices. Try to begin to accept not understanding. Realize that in the lack of understanding, there is silent measure taking place and that with my ruler, I am able to draw out just the right borders for your travels. Have faith that the things you do not understand are a product of much activity in the Unheard realm.

Your forewarnings will come as they have been so you will hear what needs heard. Leave the rest with Me in the Unheard place of perfection.

SEPT 4

I Abound

My goodness reaches every corner of the world. Even those places long considered desolate and forsaken can find me in the Unseen for those with eyes to see. Likewise, within your spirit, I am tucked away in each nook and cranny. There is no part of you I do not know (and despite what you sometimes feel) I love you still.

Perfectly Timed

My timing is all sufficient for thee. No matter what the deal or your thoughts, I time things with perfect love. Remember the instruction, 'Wait. Wait, I say, upon the Lord.' No matter what you are anticipating or hoping to happen, my plan will exceed all your expectations should you wait faithfully and with joy. Remember love and laugh. Love and Laugh.

The Exaltation Of God

SEPT 6

Yet Another Beginning

Each morning, every afternoon, at the beginning of the week and midway through then each month and every year, you are presented with yet another beginning. This is the source of the true reason man looks ahead. I built into each person's understanding the realization of new beginnings. As is often the case with my perfect design, the idea of new beginnings has been perverted into looking ahead and planning.

Accept the new beginning, my mercy poured out for you and praise me and rejoice. You need not plan but may know you will always have a chance to start over.

SEPT 7

The Sign of the Times

Pay attention to the signs -- not those within you that are based on feelings but the exterior signs. I will use circumstances and events to speak to you about many things.

Trust I guide you well and praise me for my undying love. That alone is worth the time and praise, but better than that is what you will gain by doing it.

Build your stairway step by step.

Unfettered

I speak to your inner spirit -- far deeper within you than you understand. It is there at your center where I reside with the perfect you. Never a moment goes by without the two of us in complete agreement and perfect union, even though you do not always (or fully) know it. Remember that without my breath of life within you, your body would cease to function.

Walk today in the truth of our spirit union and remember my presence in the face of all men.

SEPT 9

Mistakes and Sin

Oh how I wish you could truly, fully understand my love for you. You beg forgiveness for things that are not sin but human frailty. I do not need to forgive mistakes born of the human condition. I need to forgive the conscious choices to walk away from truth.

My Child, My Child, do you yet not know I love you?

SEPT 10

Looking Ahead

The cold weather cometh. Fear should not join it. Have I not taken care of you well so far? How much more you will see my glory in the crisp whiteness of winter.

Fear can threaten to take hold or take over when you look ahead and try to plan the way. Have peace with me.

If you feel you must look ahead, look ahead anticipating all my Glory and Miraculous Power at work for you.

The Exaltation Of God

SEPT 11

False Belief

I open your eyes. Only I can. There is a false sense of understanding and knowledge to which humans are particularly prone. It's the kind of thing that Eve experienced at the tree of knowledge. She thought she was gaining insight from the serpent then thought she'd gained it from the fruit; neither were of my Spirit and were therefore false truth.

Be ever mindful that the only true revelation is by the Spirit of God -- from my heart to yours. In my Spirit is Simplicity and Love.

SEPT 12

Wonders Await

How often are you upset over how things are going because they aren't going the way you think they should go?

Begin to realize I don't work by your expectations then expect I will please you with the way I choose to do things.

Wonders await your quieted attention.

Be Glad

Be glad you have options. Be glad I see your heart and run to meet the desires thereof. You are mine and I love you more than you understand. Like a mother's love for her children knows no bounds, so is my love for you. No river of change has the force to knock me off course. I will love you no matter the tides.

Be glad. Be glad. Oh be so glad.

SEPT 14

Relief Cometh

Be glad for relief does not escape you. I have measured your grief, heard your cries, accepted your sacrifices and I have mercy on you.

What a sweet sound mercy makes as it is poured over my beloved children.

Yes, for mercy, for relief be glad.

SEPT 15

Mercies Wait Not

Mercies wait not. They come anew each day because I am a loving Lord not because my children are worthy. Only in the perfection of self (removing yourself and replacing that being with my Light) are you worthy. Hence my mercies must come every day over and over again to him who seeks me.

Knock and the door will be opened.

The Exaltation Of God

SEPT 16

Laundry Day

Oh what a heavy heart you are carrying yet you know those feelings are temporary and subject to change. Put on your new clothes -- joy, gladness and praise and wash away the old in my truth. That heavy heart is the result of walking a dust filled earth even while in search of me.

Today I send the cleansing waters of truth for your dusty hearts.

SEPT 17

Birth

Bring your heavy load to me. Let me hold your spirit in my arms in a warm love and light filled embrace.

The aches and pains of life bear down like a young mother about to give birth. Go ahead and cry. Cry out to me, your Lord. I listen. I hold your hand and I am there to deliver to you joy, love and light.

Today you give me the greatest gift -- your life.

SEPT 18

Proving It

Do not seek the next step by that which seems secure. Am I not able to overcome all the obstacles you face? I care about even the minor details. Not only that, but I have foreseen what is to come and prepare the way. Trust me. Really trust me.

This day you prove your trust moment by moment.

SEPT 19

Feel Good

Oh what a joyous thing it is when one of my own recognizes goodness in me. I do want good things for you. I do delight in preparing the way. I do treasure experiencing the joys of your heart. (I live there, you know, so what you experience, I experience; what you feel, I feel.)

Go about feeling good.

SEPT 20

Are You One

There are so many things that bring blessings. Are you one of them today?

The Exaltation Of God

SEPT 21

Open Arms

Open your arms and receive from me... all Supply, all Desire, all need. As you open yourself to receive, the supply will be there, the desire for my delivery and yes, even the need to work out my will in your life. For this wondrous thing to happen, you only need be open!

In this, you are like the flower. It begins to open itself by first turning to the Son. I take care of the rest. I unfold each petal as if gently helping it to open its arms. With each set of open petals getting to the core becomes easier and the flower takes on a beautiful new form. Then when it is fully open it can be used to pollinate still more.

Today, let me open your arms. It's so much easier and peaceful that way.

SEPT 22

I Am

I am. That is what you need to know today. I am all you need. I am in control. I am pleased to be in your life. I am the Great I Am.

Trust me.

I say this again and again because it is a great need in all human life. It bears repeating that you will remember and it will go well with your soul.

I am I Am.

SEPT 23

Time Revelation

Time will tell what is to come. Don't seek answers before it is time. Don't worry about what will be. I am in control and have great plans for you. Whether it is one night or twenty thousand, I know just what you need and I am eager, yes eager, to supply it.

Does where you will lay your head trouble you? Lay it upon my chest and rest awhile.

All is well. All is well.

The Exaltation Of God

SEPT 24

The Name of Jesus

The impact of the name of Jesus has hitherto been a mystery to you. Like other mysteries, you may understand parts or in other words, grasp the general concepts concerning the name but the depth of understanding has been missing.

Sounds are no mistake. Each language was not by accident and what is in one is not in another that no man fully see while yet in this form. Each sound, though, to return to the thought, is purposed because of the rhythm of energy caused. When you call out 'Jesus,' you are literally sending out an army to rush in and protect and to serve. When you say 'My God,' you open doors of Heaven.

The use of these beautiful names (and all the others here unmentioned) in a flippant way is a sad affair. You already know it effectively weakens the power of the name in that individual's life, but there's more for you to understand. To use my name in vain is like crying wolf yet instead of tiring of running to your aid, I am heartbroken to find that once again you called without seeking -- knocked to hear a sound but not because you wanted to visit.

Don't reject me with your heart. Use your mouth as an instrument for good and your mind as a breeding ground of my will.

I am Abba Father, the one who loves you.

SEPT 25

Contend with Me

Allow the struggles that are coming against your mind to contend with me. You put them aside -- turn them aside. Let them stand on their own and present their case without you as their untrained, uneducated attorney.

Do you see that those troubles have no feet? No feet, no breath and not even a mouth.

SEPT 26

The Intricacies of Creation

In nature there are millions of divisions -- a host of levels and a myriad of tiny worlds. None escape my view. I know each blade of grass, every ant's legs and all the specks of dust. I am a part of each and every thing.

Would you but allow me, you could see me in each and every part of your own life because surely it is there you should see me most quickly.

I am yours. You are mine.

The Exaltation Of God

SEPT 27

Walking in Heaven

You cannot cause others to walk in your path. You do not even get to choose their shoes. It is not by your understandings that they live their lives. Therefore, it is not your place to guide anyone. All you can do is live your life for me and let me do in others' lives as I will and see fit.

Where you see pain and struggle, I see a chance for you to intervene in prayer. What good would it do to send you to pay someone's debt when you have an outstanding balance? Draw instead from the riches of my account to work on paying your own debts. Set a good example all the while praying the other will come to me to draw also from my account.

You are poor. Think of the body in which you reside. It is an old dirt shack. All your value is tucked away inside too far for human hands to reach -- untouchable. Don't worry then about the outside circumstances -- in your life or in others' lives. This is not where the treasure resides. Seek. Seek. Seek. Seek, instead, for me.

Remember every judgment made is looking only at what is without. You are unable to see what I see within each man. Reconsider then what you think is wrong, lacking or needy and pray for each man's spirit being. Pray for the exterior circumstance to line up with the interior growth. Then and only then will your own shoes be fit to walk on streets of gold.

SEPT 28

True Life

Once more, adventure beckons. Today you embark on a new journey -- a return to my healing place while traveling where you haven't been. Rejoice in it. Enjoy it.

Your view has changed. Now you are able to see in ways you could not see before. You look and see what might have been and are blessed by what is. Yes, life is and can be beautiful.

I placed in you the desire to live. Life has tried to steal that from you, but True Life stands guard over you and instead of loss, gives you joy, abundance and peace.

Go and enjoy for this is the time you are given to return to me.

Almost Honorless

Not even honor and glory do you understand. The fullness of each concept is beyond what you know. Think of the soldier taken captive, withholding information to protect his fellow man and his country. Despite beatings, tortures, sleep deprivation and more, he stands firm because honor and duty compel him. How little this shows of My honor, which while much the same from torture to death I remained steadily on my course, cannot explain the very purity of my blood. As each drop poured out of my body, it poured out without hesitancy. I gave without a second thought. The soldier always questions even if it is silently and known only to the two of us. Man simply does not have what I have. He cannot give what is not within him.

Remember this and turn ever to me. Time and time again, turn to me. I will, with all honor, glory, compassion, love and mercy give you in your time, rest.

The Exaltation Of God

Let Me

Your life is like a ship and I am the captain. I will allow you to take the wheel. You even have the choice to man the controls. It is though, to you, as a real ship would be to a child. You do not know how to handle the wheel nor have any clue what to do with the controls.

Let me. I love my job and do it well.

The Exaltation Of God

OCT 1

Sit Ready

Sit at the ready like the bride awaiting her princely groom. Oh how little you know the good that is to come. If only you understood. The treasures of heaven and your marriage to me are far greater than your brightest moment. Love is the oxygen of heaven and know you not, it is the oxygen of earth as well. This is but one part of eternity.

Be ready to hear my call. Be ready to meet need, to give out of the joy of giving and to love for the very purpose of spreading my breath to the world.

Steadily ready. This is your task today.

OCT 2

Waver Not

Doubts will continue for a time. Don't let the thought or doubt have its way. Immediately make it a sacrifice. That urgent sacrifice causes a sweet smell to rise to my nostrils. It is acceptable and good.

Had Eve understood how the serpent's lies were a doubt given to be sacrificed, Eden would not have been lost. Take the example from Abraham instead. Although doubts came to his mind like confetti, he wavered not when I commanded his sacrifice of Isaac. What a sweet scent from them both that day.

Today send me every little speck of doubt. Waver not for you are to be my incense stick even now.

OCT 3

Your Eden

The garden of Eden was not simply perfection because I made it so. It was perfection because that was how I made Adam and Eve to see. When their eyes were opened, it wasn't to truth from which I'd hidden them, but opened to darkness I wished them not to see.

Draw ever near to me and see Eden all around.

OCT 4

Come as a Little Child

My lessons come in the midst of your praise because it is upon the heart of praise I can be heard. Work to be ever in a state of praise, continually breathing in my love that I might talk to you as when you were a child.

The child does not even know he is praising yet his laughter and joy comes directly to the throne. In this room where I reside, are joys of all who were, are and will be.

Come to it boldly now with your praise and thanksgiving.

The Exaltation Of God

OCT 5

Many Voices

Come as little children rejoicing. Enter my gates with thanksgiving. Come to my courts with praise. I will embrace you. I will hold you to my chest and keep you safe and warm.

Do you not yet know how I love to embrace you?

Think of the father with his little child. Does he not enjoy the feeling of his child's love reaching around him? Does the father not gain from embracing the child and keeping the child safe? How much more than do I desire these things?

This doesn't mean I wait for you to return to Heaven. I have made no divide between Heaven and earth. It is only your lack of sight that makes the divide. On the contrary, I am continually embracing you in one way or the other. Perhaps today you can become aware of at least some of it.

Acknowledge my presence even when you don't see or feel me. Praise like you've joined a host of joyful children. Then enjoy as you evidence more and more my love and wisdom.

I come to you in many voices. Today rejoice that you can hear.

OCT 6

Just Pray

Just pray for those whose needs you see are personal and touchy. There is nothing you can say to or do for them that cannot be better accomplished in prayer.

The one whose husband does not satisfy can no more be helped by being told to run to me than a hungry man be fed by directions to the grocery. Of course all should run to me, but each person much be drawn in his or her own way.

Would you have understood my love and companionship before you heard my call? Would you have believed the intimacy so sweet? Nay, you knew only with your head but your heart had forgotten.

Pray for all you meet. Pray even more for need you know. Pray. Just Pray.

OCT 7

Not Just Yet

Sometimes the questions and the answers you seek cannot be seen because the question itself looms largely and the shadow it casts makes it too dark for you to see. Of course my light is strong enough to overcome but sometimes I stay in the background waiting until you are ready.

I've said before your eyes must adjust. You are not ready just yet for my glory.

Be content in the shadows with unanswered questions for there is much for you to learn. Don't stop seeking. Seek always. Knock and the door will be opened. Even as you knock, be glad the door is shut so that you may hear the music of your knuckle upon the wood.

The Exaltation Of God

OCT 8

First Steps

There are two ways for you to look at your fellow man's foibles. In the first, see the fallibility of mankind. Understand that there is no good without my Spirit. In the second, realize how infallible I am. If one lies to you, it is evidence of mankind's utter worthlessness and a reminder that I cannot lie.

Seeing things this way, how can you do anything but rejoice in the sight? Isn't this but one more opportunity to turn to me?

Oh Little Child, how I love to teach you these lessons that ease you on your way. Small things that they are, they are urging you toward your first steps.

OCT 9

Safe from Harm

I treasure protecting you and love it when you let me guide. I am a wonderful lead dancer. I will not lead you into harm's way nor will I step on your toes.

You may find yourself continually misstepping and grow frustrated or tired of the dance, but as you trust my way and in my leading more and more, you'll find together we move gracefully about the world.

You are safe from harm.

OCT 10

My Backdrop

Begin to picture everything against my backdrop. Whether an object, a thought or an ideal, place all against my backdrop.

As you begin to see how I am a part of everything and even how you can purposely see me in everything, your life will be transformed for the good.

Incorporate me into everything as I am already there.

OCT 11

Master Artisan

You have grown so accustomed to viewing yourself through dust covered eyes. See now the person I see -- that perfect, beautifully handsome, all capable, powerful, eternal person I designed you to be. Look no more at who you think you are or what you think you should be and see with opened unveiled eyes.

This is an art form all its own and it must be practiced daily that you become well versed in the intricacies of its display. Become the master artisan sitting at my side.

The Exaltation Of God

OCT 12

No More Self

If there were no more self within your being, how would you react right now? This is a very heavy yet Light filled question. Consider it closely.

More and more you will find yourself reacting out of Spirit-led thought and understanding. Self, though, does not give up easily. Self will whisper and if you listen not, will scream, but see and understand that self is nothing more than the fallen, Lucifer-led being. Yes, self seems a friend, but from him nothing good comes. He is base carnal, dust, temporary and assuredly will be destroyed completely one way or another.

So now, if there were no more self within you, how would you react today?

OCT 13

Body for Rent

This body that you so readily think identifies you is but a rental abode. You, the spirit being I made you to be, is temporarily housed in flesh and blood. It is in that solid structure that so many confuse self with spirit-man.

You are not your body so that the wants and desires of your body do not belong to you. Those wants and desires are subjected to the complete control of your spirit-man.

Consider your head. When you have a headache, you think of it that way saying, 'My head hurts.' Yet when you realize you are merely borrowing your physical head, you can view the pain differently. Yes, you would likely still call it your head and say the pain is what it is, but you, in your new state of understanding, could cease claiming that pain as a part that inhibits you. Just as surely, you would not be able to be angry about it.

If the head belongs to me, is it not my job to repair it?

Remember this today -- Body for Rent.

OCT 14

Even in These

Distractions take many forms -- disaster, comedy, excitements, etc. In most, the event itself is nothing more than a few simple elements joining, but allow them to come before me and they become sin.

Do you have a coming appointment occupying your thoughts? Is there an answer you seek? Are you contemplating change? Is a TV show or concert on your mind? None of these are an issue unless they replace your thoughts of me.

Remember that even in these, I am the backdrop and I will have none before me.

The Exaltation Of God

OCT 15

All Ways Always

Much thought and discussions have gone on about my humanity, but oft times the idea of my frailty in the human state is overlooked. Yet I was frail -- as frail as you -- as in need of comfort, love, recognition and reward. My display of those frailties may differ from your own display but that doesn't negate them.

It is your task today to recognize that all human form is frail but that through my conquering spirit that form need not control your days.

Turn all to me -- all ways, always.

OCT 16

Quiet Thoughts

Quiet thoughts -- times put aside with me -- these are especially needed and help you draw near me. It is the time you silence all that is without and listen for my voice, my soothing, my love.

You've heard it said to shut up or rather be silent before me. It is not your heart I wish to stand mute, but your body.

Listen with your spirit. You will not only hear but you will feel and see my love for you.

OCT 17

It's a New Way

You go into situations with expectations of your work, but how rarely has it been as you anticipated? At what point will you toss out those tired, world ideas and accept with open arms all the greatness, joy and fun you have in my plan?

Remember I said to put on my yoke for it is light.

OCT 18

Wait on Me

There are times when the forces of the world will come against you with all they have... when your self will find much to disapprove and Satan will accuse at every turn. You will hear chastisement and be made to feel lowly at every available moment. Do not listen! Silence self and tell Satan to get behind you. You are more than conquerors through me and victory is assuredly yours.

Wait then on me and know I send you angels to minister to you and bring comfort to your travel weary soul.

OCT 19

First Steps

Your feeble attempts at praise, following my ways and of doing good are likened to reaching the peak of a tall mountain after an arduous climb. In the eyes of Heaven, each faithful act, no matter how poorly performed, is victory. Even the attempts you view as failures are worthy of reward - not because anything you do can be grand but because I recognize your limitation and praise and joy in your faithfulness.

You are my tiny babe toddling into first steps. You may fall but it will always be into my arms.

The Exaltation Of God

OCT 20

Where Your Thoughts Go

You spend a lot of time praising me for and thinking about physical things, but this world (and all that you see in it) is just a moment in passing. Let your mind reach for higher ground that where your thoughts go, your body of circumstances will follow.

OCT 21

Reflections

Reflect on my Spirit. Spend time considering who I Am is not just in your life but in all life, as creator. Are you not found in each piece of art you create? How much more than is I AM in all. Yet even this brings it back to the physical so reflect on my qualities you cannot see, but sense each and every day.

There you will find me waiting.

OCT 22

Core Changes

You are experiencing changes at your core. You do not see it. You do not feel it. You cannot name it yet change is and that change will affect everyone you meet.

Touch lives... with a smile, a kind word, a good deed, a wave, a gift. Give out of the abundance of your very core. Give from the vibration I have paced (yes, I set the rhythm) within you.

Your core is and has changed. Walk about confidently. I Am is there!

OCT 23

To Not Offend

How little able you are to make a good first impression. You can be very polite, kind and even loving, but you cannot know the filters on your listener's heart. You must then place all in my hands. Trust me to put a guard over your mouth and to give you eyes to see.

It is not the years of the man that gives wisdom or creates walls. It is the amount with which each turns to me.

Have you turned your all over to me?

OCT 24

At Your Side

How can you listen when you have so much to say? You do not think of me enjoying your rambling thoughts, but I do. It is there I find the secrets of your heart and pleas that require my running to save.

Begin to see all the dark corners -- of thought, sight and feelings -- as coming from me. Realize how well I plan each and every moment. Even the busy plans and the uncertainty have filtered through my fingers before reaching you like a spring shower.

Enjoy your journey for today I walk at your side.

The Exaltation Of God

OCT 25

As You Are

Let me use you, emotions and all. Tender hearts and solemn countenances alike have their place. Be who I made you to be. Love who I made you to be. Remember who I made you to be. No matter the personality, you have your very own unique place in my world, plan and work.

Rejoice today, O Child of Mine. I love you just the way you are.

OCT 26

Be Light

I've said before you need not explain yourself -- yea, even commanded it yet you do not listen and obey. Examine your speech. How often is it filled with things contrary to my instruction? Do you not often tell your thoughts about yourself and your relationship rather than mine? Or none at all?

People do not care. In fact, the more you talk of self, the less they can see me in you. Self is not who you were made to be so let my life and my examples in your life be sufficient to be and show your empathy. Your life and your examples are darkness being painted over your friends' eyes.

OCT 27

Living the What Is

The uncertainty of the moment is just that -- a moment. See it that way. Recognize that it will change quickly and this will likely not even be a vague recollection. It will be lost, whisked away in the smoke of your prayers, an incense trail making the past seem sweet.

Oh the golden years so full of forgotten moments and filled with all things good. Live in that good even now.

OCT 28

Sneaks In

Snakes sneak in. Beware!

It is oft times the smallest opening the serpent uses to take up residence. Oh how he likes the warm and tender hearth. So good it is to rest and wait knowing from the fires that burn within, the meal is sure to come.

On your most choice pieces of meat will he feast first. He waits patiently knowing the wait will reveal what is best and most easily reached.

Stand guard, My Child. Give him not even a morsel. Make no room that he may rest. Seal up your house with flood lamps burning on high. The enemy hates the Light because he cannot hide there.

Yes, stand guard. Stand guard. Pray always and without ceasing that all may go well with your soul.

The Exaltation Of God

OCT 29

Deacon

When you aren't listening with your ears, you will hear with your heart. This is the way I lead. I speak. I speak as clearly and surely today as ever. I guide. If you allow, I give you just as clear a sign of guidance by day and by night as the Israelites had in the wilderness with pillars of smoke and fire.

The Deacon of any church is a guiding light all his own. If he seeks me, many a man can he influence and point in the right direction. He need not teach or preach like the pastor, but live as a constant burning example -- being the pillar of his community.

Seek out and be watchful of the deacons I send you. This is your training ground to deacon living.

Oh How I Know

When you abide in me and know I abide in you, the laws of this world do not apply. What man is there that can oppose my will? Who is powerful enough to go against me? My decisions are final. If I say you are to receive treasures of gold and silver, you shall receive them. If I appoint you chief musician, that is the position you will hold.

Do not be afraid of the uncertainties. You can trust they are safely within my hands. I control the laws, both physical and spiritual. Won't you put your faith in me today?

OCT 31

Stepping Upward

Build upon the steps of faith you've been learning from me. Set glory stone upon this my great foundation. Oh how Peace will stand and what a beautiful place that will be.

You are my child and I am proud of these steps you take. I see you strive fall after fall. You are learning and growing in ways you never imagined. Isn't it wonderful?

Now, go about your day in honor of me and what wonders of joy there will emerge both for you and from me.

The Exaltation Of God

NOV 1

Detail Free

How little you know of the details of other's lives. I gave you some details in the Biblical instructions to help and left some out so as not to hinder and to cause you to consider on your own. What you read in the life of one may be entirely different from what another reads yet both equally true as far as any need be concerned.

Was Jesus compassionate or stern? To you perhaps compassionate, but another may need that stern take.

Don't worry about the details, either then or now. They are neither here nor there.

Just follow me. Follow me.

NOV 2

Surrounded

How little you know or understand the battle being waged on your behalf. Angels and Saints alike are fighting with the Sword of the Spirit and I am rebuking the devourer for your sake. How much more you could accomplish and walk in peace if only you knew and understood.

Seek. Seek to remember these truths. Put them into the context of your life and realize just how many (thousands, yea even tens of thousands) are waging battle for you and working for you for my sake.

You are not alone!

NOV 3

Satisfied Me

Man is not the dependable source of anything. I am the inexhaustible source of all you ever need.

Seek not recognition. Seek not reward. Seek not understanding. From your fellow man you will only find glimpses and it will never be a satisfying measure. When you seek these things from me I will fulfill, but better yet seek them not at all and allow me to fulfill while you seek me -- just me.

What I give is good. Of that there is no doubt, but you will notice it so much more and appreciate it when you stop seeking things your way and seek after only me. Satisfied Me.

NOV 4

Dusty Treasures

You have treasures to give -- heirlooms passed down the generations. These tidbits are things you never even consider yet they are things others would treasure if allowed. Why do you not share? What good do they do collecting dust?

With open eyes you can begin to understand that the pleasure you receive from periodically looking at old treasures is multiplied when those treasures light the eyes around you.

Share, My Dear. Share.

The Exaltation Of God

NOV 5

Perfect Opportunities

I time and order all in your life because you love and follow me. I have destined you for great things. Isn't it wonderful that you now understand 'great things' doesn't mean monetary gain or notoriety, but instead is the giving of old dusty treasures you received for free?

Oh Child, what a wondrous walk we've begun.

NOV 6

Floods of Peace

When you abandon self and turn all over to me, peace floods in. This you cannot do on your own. You must ask for me to work through you and in you. Where you are weak, I am strong.

Believe it. Believe me.

NOV 7

Mud Covered Man

How can you convince anyone your heart is pure when it is so full of self? In trying, you are asking a mud covered man to look at a mud covered man and see him sparkle. If you want others to see goodness in you, pray for them to see me. Work on ridding your being of self so that you see me in your life. Allow me to be head -- at your meetings, in your speech, where you travel and in all you do.

You are not what matters here. That you that wants recognition is not seeking it on my behalf. Where has this gotten you up until this point?

Let go.

NOV 8

Be on Guard

Be on guard, for the enemy roams about seeking the ones he may devour. You are one he seeks, but I have promised to rebuke him for your sake. Still, you must stand ready. Don't be caught in precarious situations because you've strayed from me.

If there be good, think on those things.

NOV 9

Beauty, Power and Passion

In order to love another as you love yourself, you must first love yourself. To love yourself, you must see me within you and recognize the beauty, passion and power therein.

I am love.

The Exaltation Of God

NOV 10

The Origin of All

Think on aspects of yourself and recognize their root in me. There is a rhythm to your thought that was first a rhythm in my speech to you.

Not everyone hears me the same way. To some the rhythm is completely different yet it is perfectly suited to that person.

As you seek your voice and your message, realize more the origin of all that is, was and will be.

NOV 11

The Retreat

It is good to hide away a day or two sometimes. All human form needs a retreat, a refuge, my refuge.

You cannot effectively represent me nor act within my will if you are too tired to move, too heart sick to face another day, too worn from living.

Life is hard under the curse. That's why your days are numbered. Learn to live joyfully, abundant lives by coming to me secretly, some each day and sometimes for days.

I am The Retreat.

NOV 12

Trust?

You can be like the drunkard seeking a drink, always expecting something or you can learn what it means to go into your prayer closet, turn over all your cares and be at peace, real peace, with me.

The choice is easy. The practice of it is not until you really trust me. The question is will you really trust me today? Just today?

NOV 13

Filling in the Gaps

There are oh so many ways for you to be used to fill in the gaps for others; midnight prayer vigils, a smile, a warm meal or a gentle touch. Whatever you do for the least of these, you do as unto me. What wonderful gifts to me. How I enjoy them! They are like the child's bounty on Christmas morn -- a delight unto my heart.

Fill. Fill. Fill the gaps and know you are filling me.

NOV 14

A Cup of Tea

Careful not to fill your time with much business -- even when that busy schedule seems on my account. Such full jars leave little room for my overflowing blessing. Such lives get lost in thoughts, desires and plans.

Always, Me first. Rest and trust. Rest and trust. I am the friend to have for a cup of tea. Relax with me a while and rest and trust.

The Exaltation Of God

NOV 15

The Strength of Angels

The insults and threats hurled at you are no more than of men gnashing their teeth at angels. What good does it do them? Even the strongest of men has no power against the strength of God's angels.

Rejoice this day, Joint Heir, because you are safe and will be with me in Paradise. Already, you embark on the eternal.

NOV 16

The Power of Construction

You have the ability to tear down or lift up as you choose. Realize the weightiness of this right I have given you. Would you use it to make the world better, it would be a better world. Should you choose to destroy, the destruction is permanent.

Turn to me constantly that you are guided in both tasks. Lift your brothers and sisters. Tear down walls. Destroy the enemy and love with all I give you.

NOV 17

At Your Core

My mysteries are tucked away in your heart. Upon each of your cells, I have written my Name that no part of you becomes lost. You see the whole which seems to you like the splattered result of a paint ball. I see the tiny writing hidden within the very paint fibers.

You don't need to be rich or famous or in a high position politically to make a difference. Do as you feel I am leading you and I will work with those efforts.

People will see in you flaws or be unable to see those flaws in direct proportion to your relationship with me. That is not to say there will not be naysayers. Until your return home, there will be naysayers, but how little their view will gain them. You will gain much by being joined to me.

Feel the blessings of these mysteries. They are a part of your very core.

NOV 18

The Lily Music

My words are the music written upon your soul. As you hear me more and more, read more and more my words, accept more and more the messages I give you, the music will pour out of you and meet with all around you.

I will enlarge your territory and allow you to be the music of the valley, clothed as perfectly as the Lily.

NOV 19

Let Me Lift You

Finding yourself caught up in expectations that are not met is a sure sign you are looking for validation in the wrong places. People cannot meet the needs I meet. Come to me. Let me lift you up. Only I can exalt my creation perfectly.

The Exaltation Of God

NOV 20

Black Salve

There is a blackened salve being put upon the hearts of my children. It promises healing, yea even restoration so my children reach out for it willingly, anticipatngly... stupidly. Be not of the unwise generation. Look at that salve and recognize that there is nothing pure within it. What a trap it has become for so many!

Instead, let me be your healing. Let my blood that has run so freely for you, pour over your heart and make it as white as snow.

This is my gift to you.

NOV 21

The Hundred Partner

You can stop listening and go about your days whenever you want, be it early or after we've talked a long while. I enjoy talking with you though and hope for these times where you stop a long time just to be with me.

I know what good it does you, so too do I cherish the good it does me. Do you know that when you learn to love living in my light you are actually building on the goodness of heaven?

Think about it. By stopping what you are doing, ceasing all the activity that draws you this way and that, you are acting as a joyful brick making slave. You are creating what you can't yet see. This is not only for your good but many others.

Didn't I say ten would overtake a hundred and a hundred, ten thousand?

Remember these words. Be more and more set apart and you are my Hundred partner. Oh the ten thousands you will move!

NOV 22

Counting on Me

You see what a day that does not start with me amounts to and how much less you accomplish. I've shown you this so that with first hand experience you will not return to your ways of old. You know so well how little they worked.

The old ways are like wooden idols. They cannot speak, nor move, nor save. They sit on a shelf looking silly.

Do you want a god whose only talent is collecting dust or the God who creates and counts it?

NOV 23

I Hear You

I hear you. When your heart cries out because no one understands, I hear you. I love you.

You are never alone. What seems, in this world, to be abandonment is much like the Old Native American way of ushering men into adulthood. The father leads the boy into the wilderness, blindfolds him then instructs him to wait. All night the boy waits. He hears the sounds of wilderness and fears what might be there to devour or tear him limb for limb yet he waits. At morning light, when the birds call out the new day, the boy removes his blindfold and discovers his father has been there guarding him all along. I am your father and I will always be camped about you to keep you safe.

Even in this, your current trial, I am there and I hear you.

The Exaltation Of God

NOV 24

It is There

I love you (and all humanity) with your self-centered, stubborn ways because you are mine. I created you. Does the toddler who says a curse word become hated by his father? No. The father recognizes his child venturing out and expanding his reach in the world.

You have not reverted back to the beginning of your learning. You more quickly recognize your folly than ever you did in the past. For now, let that be your victory and strive onward.

Your perfection is there. I see it and soon you will too.

Blindly Mine

Sometimes it is not hearing me that you need. Instead, you need to pour your heart out to me. Make your requests known. Seek me. Seek the answers from me. Then trust me to be there listening, acting and accomplishing all for your good.

I ask as I have before, is my hand shortened that I cannot save?

Do you really not yet know the answer? You doubt and your doubt delays my rescue. I am the Father who has access to all that is good, comforting, beautiful and helpful. Trust me to love thoroughly so you will know. I will use that love for your benefit.

You are mine!

NOV 26

My Backing

Do not be afraid to take bold steps. I am the force behind all that is good and benefiting to you. Like a salesman for a multi-million dollar business, go about claiming the status of the business as your personal achievements. In other words, live out in your steps, your thoughts and your words what you are only beginning to understand. Be the child of the most powerful and influential king. Know I will back you up every step of the way.

Simple Kindness

Simple acts of kindness are measured in great volumes by angels of record. I keep track of them all and what weight they carry far exceeds anything you can imagine or comprehend. They are likened to the weight of the oceans and surely move about the earth in a similar all-encompassing way.

Liquid Love. Yes, liquid love.

The Exaltation Of God

NOV 28

Meeting the Need

Abraham met strangers with food, comfort and messages of me. He met the physical need in abundance then introduced each to me. Can you imagine how effectively you would be in sharing my love if you first showed the joy in belonging to me?

Praise sharing my joy each and every moment of each and every single day.

NOV 29

Rejoice Instead

You don't have to see it to know it is there. Many things happen that you do not and cannot see. Even if you pray for eyes to see, I will not completely clear your vision until you are home with me -- away from the dust of your temporary abode.

Why be surprised then by evidence of the Unseen? Rejoice that I cause it all to work for your good.

Be Aware

When you are reading my words, spending time with me, immersing yourself in all things good and beautiful and I give to you good things both physical and spiritual, it is not as reward for your actions. It is because of your recognition of the good with which I surround you. This is one reason I say pray for eyes to see.

There are those who believe your focus on and envisioning of things brings those things. This idea is simply a perversion of my reality -- the only true reality.

Yes, I want you to have vision just as I instructed Abraham to look from east to west. He believed I would give him the land and it was accounted him in righteousness. He didn't believe because he had vision. He believed because I am a good and faithful, loving Father.

Now, be aware and believe too. I wish to bless you if you will just have eyes to see.

The Exaltation Of God

Hide and Seek

When you need understanding about someone, listen. If the person does not tell you what you need to know, I will. I do not ask you to go into the field then hide from you the tools.

Seek and ye shall find.

Limitless on my Account

Beginning to grasp my infiniteness is not easy for anyone. You are not, though, limited as you have hitherto believed. Remember I said where you are weak I am strong. Incorporate that into the very framework of your belief system about yourself. It is the elemental truth I have placed in every man's life and something you need believe to be able to grasp more and more the who of I Am.

Time

I am the creator of time. I am He who measures it. It exists because I have breathed into it my own breath to make it alive. There is no part of time that exists without me. You might even say I am time. If I am time, I am all that is.

Without Expectations

Coming to me open minded, without expectations is the permission I require before moving on your behalf. I want to see your readiness to accept from me whatever good things I choose for you -- even if those things do not meet your prior expectations.

Surely you have come to know my choice far exceeds your expectation.

DEC 5

Perfect Love

Love me as your father because I am a good father and not because I am good in comparison to other fathers. Other fathers fail because they are part of an imperfect world not because they purposely choose to do poorly.

No person, if given the chance, would choose to fail at any task. Certainly, many choices people make are knowingly wrong. These are the result of many false messages planted in and accepted by that person long before the willful disobedience. Think about this in your own life.

Do you always praise me? Can you say you have a full and unending faith in me? Do you always do as I have done? No, of course not. You are still going from glory to glory.

Remember this as you sit offering me your love and thanking me for mine. I love because I am perfect love and that is enough.

The Exaltation Of God

DEC 6

Even Greater

You have a great understanding of the beauty I have created in this world. Every tree stands where I have placed it. Each color in the sky is my making.

Now then, realize what even greater beauty I have made within you.

DEC 7

Praise Anyway

Even if you hear nothing at all 'praise anyways'. Even if you feel no jubilation, 'praise anyways'. When you are tired or worn down, praise. When words of prayer escape you, praise. Just praise and praise and praise some more. It is oh so good for your soul and my pure joy.

DEC 8

Captive of the Christ

I am the guard of your thoughts. Yes, I am the guard of even your thoughts.

I have set a camp of angels all around so that the only thoughts to reach you are those I have allowed.

Remember this as you seemingly battle with them. I have already sifted each one and made it ready for you. I have ensured your success at conquering because I have strengthened you and made all aspects ready. What 'battle' you have then is really no more than the Israelites had crossing the Red Sea. Egypt may have followed, but without lifting a sword (except that of My Word), the Israelites were set free.

Be ye set free today.

DEC 9

Retain Not the Sin

If you can begin to see that those who are judgmental are like the Alzheimer patient, you will feel the freedom I have provided you.

The Alzheimer patient progresses somewhat slowly in most cases. He forgets telling you something. Later he might forget your name. Eventually he forgets basic function.

The judgmental person forgets my promises and that only I am and can judge. Then he forgets your good acts - whether he knows them personally or simply knows there is good in all people. Eventually he forgets the Golden Rule to do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

Feel sorry for this person. Pray over them because as hurtful as it is that he should judge you, how much more sad he has forgotten me -- even for a moment.

I wish to extend to him his freedom, true freedom. It comes only by being fully forgiven. Retain not his sin today or ever. Just pray for him and his soul.

The Exaltation Of God

DEC 10

Made in My Image

Like you are drawn to create, I am drawn to create. In this you are made in my image.

Think how you could sit and stare in awe at the beauty that was born of your thoughts and hands. Think of that joy on seeing your creation when you first open your eyes. You do not see the flaws, but instead recognize how each part of your creation is perfect because the entirety of the project is perfect.

Do you see how this is just the way I see you? Feel my love in this. You are my perfect creation and I love you passionately.

DEC 11

Author of Honesty

You are a member of the flesh and regardless of your care of it, eventually all flesh spoils. It cannot go on perpetually. The stench of rotting away becomes overwhelming until it is no more. I have, in my compassion for you, deemed and designed a way for this spoiled flesh to be utterly destroyed. Let it go joyfully.

What you gain when flesh's satisfaction ceases to be your goal is My peace, that peace that passes understanding. You become one with the Author of Honesty living always in My truth.

DEC 12

Doubting Thomas

DO you know why people don't fathom what they cannot see or hear from you?

We live in a world of doubting Thomas'. If you don't exhibit clear and precise knowledge on a topic, a diploma or allow them to see, hear and feel, it is not real to them. Perhaps it will never even exist as far as they are concerned. I ask you this:

Would I have been less Christ if Thomas hadn't been there?

DEC 13

Starting Over

I allow you to start over as often as you need to because I know that every time you think you are starting over, you are actually a step ahead of where you were.

If your whole life were a series of 'starting overs,' you would still reach me at the end of it.

The Savior Saves

You will know truth by its lasting effect on your spirit. A man who truly follows me cannot, literally cannot, continue on in his former ways. What changes happen in each man's life are not for you to decide. The alcoholic may be saved and continue drinking, but have been freed from his evil thoughts. The widow may be saved and seem to wallow in despair yet be free from fear. Do not suppose you know what saves each one. You only understand in part. Yes, I am the Savior, but my work is individual and unique for everyone. This is why only I judge and only I can rename you.

The Exaltation Of God

DEC 15

The Future Cometh

The future of the world cometh. Not because man thinketh, but because I deem it. Each day must be. It is a part of my plan and that plan you do not understand. Trust I will guide you. Trust me.

No fear. No worry. These concerns of the day are not more powerful nor more important than my plan.

Trust. Trust. Trust and Believe.

DEC 16

Unbelieving

'Help thou my unbelief.'

Oh how the words are sweet music to my ears and an incense to my nostrils. Your call to me comes as a trumpet sounds. I hear and send out legions to your aide. Believe me when I tell you it is a joyous thing. I rejoice when finally you surrender and seek my all.

The schedule is unimportant. The road taken can twist and turn. The expectation can turn out to be wrong. When you call, no matter where you are, I am there to answer and love you wholly.

DEC 17

Joyful Journey

Those things you are able to realize and the imaginations thereof do not begin to compare to My Plans. Where you see possibilities for good works on my behalf, I see the limitations you continue, in your lack of understanding, to place on those possibilities.

Praise me in this moment. Join up your hearts, minds and wills with my way and watch as more goodness and joy than you can ever imagine comes flooding into, over and through you.

I make this a joyful journey just for you.

DEC 18

The Power of Praise

There is no situation that cannot be conquered with praise. Praise is My word formed into a sword and placed in your mouth. It is Me so the more you praise, the more you place me in and around whatever your situation.

Praise. Praise and Praise some more!

The Exaltation Of God

DEC 19

See with the Sword

Speak not on your own behalf. You do not see clearly enough to do so. Say only that which I put into your mouth and lay upon your heart.

He that speaketh for himself is like the doctor who is his own patient. With eyes that look ahead, you cannot see within. Yes, sometimes you may perceive what I see but without my words in your mouth, you will never see one hundred percent of the time.

The moment you place all trust in my Sword to open your visual field is the moment you have walked on the golden streets of eternity.

Rejoice!

DEC 20

In the Midst of Joy

Your ideas are born of me or are made to appear to be born of me to trap you. To worry though over which is which is not your job. I have sent you ministering spirits, placed guide posts along the way and speak to you continually. Trust that as you strive after me and my kingdom, all ill-made choices will be used as surely as those perfected decisions. You are learning.

Your job today is to rejoice over all that is good and lovely and to rejoice over the challenges too. In the midst of your joy, I am there.

DEC 21

Amazing Wonder

What amazing wonders I do as I go before you. Pharaoh didn't know Moses would influence him before he stood in front of him, but I'd prepared Pharaoh's heart. When I wanted to use Moses to reveal my Glory, I hardened Pharaoh's heart.

If you come across or even up against someone who has a hard heart and a harsh tongue, know my Glory is about to be revealed in amazing wonder. Know, I'm using you to make it happen!

Isn't it wonderful?!

Life of the Fallen

It is to the joyous thankful heart I delight in coming. Have you ever noticed that in the Garden of Eden I walked with Adam and Eve yet that communion isn't mentioned after their fall?

I did not cease to be with them, but their sorrowful, embarrassed eyes could not see me. Their regret filled ears could not hear me.

Know you not how you have been living the life of the fallen? Dejected, you felt rejected, but like with Adam and Eve, I've never left you so rejoice! I am here!

The Exaltation Of God

DEC 23

Perfection

Do not feel ashamed to feel my perfection in your life. I want you to be at peace and prosper even as your soul prospers.

The more perfection you acknowledge in your life, the more you reveal me in your life, for you cannot have perfection without me.

Enjoy the peace. Delight in the abundance. Accept the joy. I designed it and give it all to you - perfectly

Love Patience

As you gain wisdom, you must build up patience. Ask me for it. Respond to situations as if you feel patience flowing through you directly from me. That is, after all, exactly where it does originate.

You are discovering how clearly you walk when you allow me to be the lamp upon your feet, but it is important not to become frustrated at those stumbling in darkness. You were there just moments ago. So act kindly. Have compassion and love patience for my sake.

The Well Oiled Machine

I am blessing the work of your hands for my own sake -- my own glory, my own children, my own plan. It is right that you should find joy in the blessing, but recognize too it is not a blessing to be kept hidden. Each blessing is like the well oiled machine part. It moves without squeaking or rubbing away, wearing down those parts around it and makes possible an assembly of effort to produce a great result.

Be thou the blessed part of my machine. My oil of anointing I pour on you.

DEC 26

Wielding Power

You will meet your fair share of obstacles. This life will bring you pains and burdens but see in them my working power and I am there.

With your mouth, breathe me into each situation. Bury your burdens in praise. When they rise it will be to rush off at my bidding for your best interest. No power in heaven and earth can stop the rushing on because there is no greater power given you than to praise Me.

In your mouth is the double edged word. It has come to kill and destroy the enemy.

Wield it boldly.

The Exaltation Of God

DEC 27

Son Circle

Your fight is not against flesh and blood. This is undoubtedly difficult to remember when it appears to be flesh and blood attacking your flesh and blood, but trust me when I say this is a heavenly battle.

Build streets of gold. Continue to bury pains in praise. Lift up and magnify my Name that I might lift up and magnify you.

I send out rays of my Son. Send His reflection onward to the world, that in time, it all comes back to me.

DEC 28

Sufficient for You

If you believe that your battle is not against flesh and blood, you cannot react to the one used in the attack as if he or she is the enemy. Make that person an honored guest in your presence. Let not the pains that have spewed from them put an end to the love that could flow through you to them.

Do you really wish to give up this chance to love for my sake?

No, the task at first is not easy, but I give you my strength, my courage, my comfort and my love. This, My Child, is my Grace in action -- sufficient for you!

DEC 29

Misguided Compassion

The enemy stands in front of you. He circles 'round snarling and growling, baring his teeth. He is ready to devour you. Were you to trap him, you would hear his agonized cries. Would you then have compassion and let him go? Do you not know that to do so not only endangers your soul, but is your willful choice to endanger the souls of others?

Endanger not.

DEC 30

Garment of Grace

I am your soft place. Fall into my arms. Stop discussing the idiosyncrasies of your conversations with others and bring them to me. Even if you ache to clear up a matter or itch to make known a straight point, put on the garment of grace and come running back to me where spirit calm is waiting.

Your garment is beautiful and lovely. It erases fine lines and gives poise, balance and beauty. It is unparalleled and only from my gift of sacrifice. It, this garment of grace, is my Grace measured just for you. It is the perfect restoration of my seamless garment and I give it freely to you.

Is it too much then to ask that you sacrifice these mundane, matterless conversations? How about the more weighty ones where you are being attacked as a person? Would that be too much to sacrifice? Draw a line for me. Tell me how far you can and will go. When you are safely in my arms, is your line in the same place? This is why you must run away from what is useless and to me more and more. I will never forsake you nor leave you and I will clothe you with grace.

The Exaltation Of God

DEC 31

The Oracle of God

You are my oracle -- The Oracle of God. In the last year, I have brought you low that I might build you up again.

I have said you will do greater things than did I while on earth yet until now you have not understood. Your role may not be as a great evangelist or it may be just that. It may not be as the healer standing before a crowd of thousands, or the speaker, the teacher, the guide. Your role, though, is nonetheless hugely important and the way our Father has designed for our collaborative work.

Praise. Pray. Praise again, for in this way you are moving mountains, calling to being what comes from the Father and reaching the hearts of tens of thousands. In this way too you are driving back the evil one and causing demons to flee in all directions.

Yes, praise, pray and praise some more, Oracles of God, for this is your great task and sacrifice. The rest is up to me.

With All My Love,
Jesus
